ONTARIO IS TO HAVE NEW PREMIER

Prime Minister Goes To Confer With Roosevelt

Mr. King Will Leave Ottawa For Washington To-morrow; Trade Negotiations and St. Lawrence Seaway Expected To Be Discussed, Though Premier Makes No Statement

Dinner To Be Given At White House

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Nov. 5.—Prime Minister King will leave for Washington to-morrow and will start off a southern vacation with a visit to President Roosevelt at the White House.
While trade negotiations with the United States are expected to be resumed shortly, Mr. King declined to say whether he would discuss this question with Mr. Roosevelt.
He described his visit to Washington as similar to that which Mr. Bennett made as Prime Minister in 1933.
In Mr. King's absence Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, will be acting Prime Minister.
Premier King is scheduled to spend Thursday at the Canadian Legation in Washington, go to the White House Friday and spend the night there, and return to the Legation Saturday. He will probably be absent from Ottawa about a fortnight.

TO BE WELCOMED
Washington, Nov. 5.—Prime Minister King will be greeted by William Phillips, Acting Secretary of State and former United States minister to Canada, when he arrives in Washington Thursday.
The State Department announced today that the Canadian Prime Minister's train will be met by Mr. Phillips, a number of State Department officials and military aides to President Roosevelt.
Tentative plans call for an informal dinner at the White House Friday evening, and President Roosevelt will be host to the Prime Minister over-night Friday.
Cordell Hull, Secretary of State, now on a holiday at Pinehurst, N.C., is expected to return to Washington to participate in the discussions to be carried on during Mr. King's visit. It was taken for granted that trade matters and the proposed St. Lawrence Seaway would be discussed.

TIME CHANGE FOR CHICAGO

City Will Enter Eastern Time Belt on March 1 Next

Chicago, Nov. 5.—By vote of the city council, Chicago's move, then 3,000,000 residents will regulate their lives and habits by eastern standard time, effective March 1, 1936. At 2 a.m. that day the city's timepieces will be officially advanced one hour.
The vote on the ordinance ended, unless the departure from central standard time is attacked in the courts, a hotly contested issue between the early risers and the late risers. The city was included in the central zone when an international time commission zoned the world in 1884.
A debate before the ordinance was passed yesterday evening showed the mail carriers, milk wagon drivers, street car men and other workers who get up before daylight were opposed to the change, while the "pro" forces rallied both public and parochial school officials, child specialists and finally the necessary aldermanic votes to their cause.

All That Remains of $500,000 School After Quakes

Above is a glimpse of the ruins of the new $500,000 Helena High School. The building was partly destroyed October 18 and shocks since then have shaken down all but small portions of it.

Helena, Mont., Nov. 5 (Associated Press).—Winter tempered its attack on quake-stricken Helena to-day, but the earth continued to tremble beneath the wrecked city's feet.
A Chinook wind from the south brought the morning temperature up 24 degrees to a reading of 34, the maximum for the last twenty-four hours.
Heavy after-shocks, three or four seconds in duration, kept Helena on edge last night and early to-day and were felt distinctly at Butte, Livingston and Great Falls.
There was no new damage in Helena.

Italian Advance In North Ethiopia Halted; Rain Falling

LEAGUE WILL WATCH TRADE

Invaders Find Going Muddy; Pause as Roads Built; Expect Soon to Be in Makale

By ANDRUE BERDING
Associated Press Foreign Staff
At the Front with the Italian Army, Nov. 5.—Rains and the Italian high command's desire to keep its plan of advance intact have caused Italy's columns to bivouac temporarily, but the officers are confident they will occupy Makale by Friday.
Officers in the advance position along the Agula-Makale line said a "breathing spell" in the advance was especially advisable to allow the truck roads to catch up with the army.
Degiac Guga's troops—well advanced on the extreme left—were confident to-night they would achieve their cherished desire of entering Makale first. These advanced troops expected they would move into the town November 7, at least a day earlier than the main body.
This is in accordance with the custom of General Emilio de Bono, commander of the northern army, of allowing native advance guards to lead.

ITALIAN NAVAL MEN IN LONDON

Associated Press
London, Nov. 5.—Two Italian naval experts, Rear-Admiral Raniero Blicca and Comte Margottini, arrived to-day to begin conferences with British experts. The visit was not related to the Anglo-Italian situation in the Mediterranean.

Translates "Ensol" Cancer Cure Patent

Dr. C. C. Hoefflin, Victoria Veterinarian, Commissioned to Translate Dr. H. C. Connell's Discovery Into German; Explains Treatment

Victoria is to have a share in Canada's famed "ensol" treatment for cancer.
An application for patent in Germany by Dr. Hendon Cameron Connell of Kingston, Ont., discoverer of the new cure for this terrible disease, is being translated by Dr. C. C. Hoefflin, Swiss-Canadian veterinarian now residing in Victoria, who is himself interested in cancer, and who has discovered a non-specific vaccine for all types of infectious diseases.
Fetherstonehaugh and Co. of Ottawa, patent attorneys, have commissioned Dr. Hoefflin to translate the application, as in his opinion he is the only man in Canada who can properly translate and word this important document.

Dr. Hoefflin, in an interview with a reporter from The Times yesterday, gave probably the first explanation of the "ensol" treatment, understandable to a layman.
"Cancer was a wild growth of body tissue," he said. "There were two theories as to its origin, irritation, and infection, both with points in their favor. Cancer knew no bounds as it grew through bones and blood vessels."
"Cancer cells, functionally, are in some way higher than human cells," Dr. Hoefflin said. "The white blood cells, which are the body's defense against infection, are unable to destroy them."

Dr. Hoefflin said that the "ensol" treatment was a wild growth of body tissue, and that the white blood cells, which are the body's defense against infection, are unable to destroy them.

Hon. Mitchell F. Hepburn Plans To Retire After Assembly's 1936 Session

COLLECTION OF ARREARS RISES

City Ahead of 1934 Period By Nearly $40,000; Current Percentage Same

Collection of tax arrears in the city for the ten months period ending October 31 was almost $40,000 above those for the same months last year, it was announced by D. A. Macdonald, city comptroller-treasurer, to-day.
In the current lists, the percentage collection on the respective levies for 1935 and 1934 were virtually the same. In that section Mr. Macdonald expressed the view that the city could be fairly confident the percentage collections would be better than last year.
The actual totals on the current levy, however, will probably be considerably down from the 1934 figure, since the net possible return for this year is $67,334 below what it was last year owing to the 1935 assessment reduction.

ARREARS ENCOURAGING
In the arrears list particularly encouraging signs are seen. Up to the end of October a total of $104,449 had been collected against $96,767 for that period last year in the section for one year old arrears. In the two-year old arrears class the 1935 figure stood at $119,872 against $93,306 up to October 31, 1934.

Collection of other items included in the general arrears class, such as interest and penalties, further swelled the current total to $254,742 against $214,684, showing a favorable difference for this year's period of $40,058. During November and December of 1934, Mr. Macdonald noted, collection of arrears totalled $60,291. The same collections during the remainder of this year would bring the city total to over $215,000, against an estimate for this year's period of $131,200.

SAY EMPEROR'S LIFE MENACED

Rome Paper Says Bomb Found in Ethiopian Monarch's Palace

Associated Press
Rome, Nov. 5.—The Asmara correspondent of the newspaper La Tribuna reported that an attempt had been made on the life of Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia.
Haile Selassie was reported in dispatches from Addis Ababa to be at that capital.
There was no direct comment on the Tribuna report.
The Tribuna dispatch said a bomb was found in the Imperial Palace in Addis Ababa, and added:
"The news is clearly connected with an order given by the Ethiopian police to various outposts to arrest an American negro who is supposed to have been identified as the assassin."
The report was stated to have been received at Asmara by caravan from the interior and also from Djibouti.

CONFERENCE NOVEMBER 27

Date Set For Dominion-Provincial Meeting; Constitution and Relief Debates

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Nov. 5.—Constitutional problems and unemployment relief will be the chief subjects of discussion at the Dominion-Provincial conference to be opened here on November 27. Prime Minister King announced the date of the conference yesterday evening, and at the same time revealed the government was pushing ahead its trade discussion with the United States and Japan.
Early announcement of the appointment of the National Unemployment Commission would be made, Mr. King said. He wants that body in existence before the conference with the provinces begins. It will be patterned after the Canadian Patriotic Fund, which aided soldiers' dependents during the Great War. There will be paid executive aid and a voluntary advisory board.
In fixing the date Mr. King said he had endeavored to meet the convenience of all provincial governments. He had hoped to have the conference earlier in the month, but the Quebec election on November 25 intervened. Premier Taschereau, leader of the government in Quebec, had agreed to send representatives to Ottawa two days after the election in (Turn to Page 2, Col. 7.)

Lost Tackle Is On Hooked Cod

Young Fisherman Finds Hook and Sinker Which He Lost Five Weeks Ago on Sunday's Catch

Five weeks ago Kingston Smith, fourteen-year-old fisherman of 1706 Haultain Street, went after the big cod at Brentwood Bay. He had a bite but when he began to roll in his line, the struggling fish broke free, carrying with it his hook and sinker.
On Sunday Kingston went fishing again. Once more he felt a terrific tug at his line. After playing it carefully, he landed a thirty-eight-pound cod.
Attach I securely in the month of the fish was the hook that he had lost five weeks before, with part of the line and sinker dangling beside the fish. Kingston caught the cod in the bay just off Bamerton.

ELECTION CLASHES IN PHILADELPHIA

Associated Press
Philadelphia, Nov. 5.—A political battle, confined to caustic verbiage for seven weeks, got out of control to-day at the polls.
Two police magistrates received bloody noses in separate fights, pistol shots cracked in south Philadelphia, seventeen men were arrested, and a special elections court was packed with complainants, including the Democratic nominee for mayor, John B. Kelly, who lodged angry protests against assistance to voters.

General regret was expressed to-day over Mr. Hepburn's planned resignation. Government ministers (Turn to Page 2, Col. 5.)

Political Leaders Watch For Indications For National Outlook For 1936 in Regional Trends

Washington, Nov. 5.—Eager for any omens as to 1936 United States political leaders fixed their attention on to-day's scattered state elections with much interest centering on Kentucky, New York and New Jersey.

An eleventh-hour development emphasized a schism in the Democratic organization of Kentucky. An announcement by Thomas S. Blane, a power in Democratic politics in the Blue Grass border state, that he would join Democratic Governor Ruby Laffoon in supporting the Republican gubernatorial nominee, King Swope, instead of A. B. Chandler, Democrat, dashed any hopes of national party leaders that the Kentucky breach would be narrowed before balloting began.

Since Kentucky will not begin counting the votes in her state-wide election until to-morrow, observers turned their immediate attention to voting for state legislators in New York and New Jersey, where Republicans had injected the New Deal into the campaigning (Turn to Page 2, Col. 7.)

STORM TOLL FOUR DEATHS

South Florida Making Repairs To-day After $1,500,000 Hurricane

Associated Press
Miami, Fla., Nov. 5.—A post-season hurricane lashed at shipping in the Gulf of Mexico to-day, as rebuilding began in a $1,500,000 arc of destruction and death it carved across southern Florida.

Miami, Fla., Nov. 5.—Four deaths were attributed to the storm, which headed to the mainland yesterday after striking the Bahamas Islands. More than two score persons were injured in its eight-hour blow from the eastern shore city of Fort Lauderdale to Cape Sable off southwest Florida. Nassau reported five Bahama fishing boats missing.

Commercial and pleasure craft were pounded by waves and wind. Several boats were tossed high on the land. Homes and business houses lost roofs and windows, opening them to torrential rains which with gale-driven tides to flood streets of the beach areas to a depth of three feet. Few frame buildings escaped the fury of the wind.

Reports to-day were: Fort Lauderdale—Three levelled. Windows smashed and a few houses unroofed. Flood waters receded last night.

Dania—Several persons injured by flying debris. Airplane party party found the area "hard hit." Horace Matthews, bridge tender, reported missing.

Hollywood—City manager Frank C. Dickey said nine persons were injured and estimated damage to homes at $300,000.

Wialea—Power lines severed. Race plant damaged.

Prime Minister Plans To Confer With Roosevelt

EXPERTS THERE
Premier King will find the ground work for trade talks already prepared. Three Canadian Government experts arrived Sunday and conversations have already been held at the State Department.

Trade between the neighboring countries remains far below the pre-depression level. From 1929 to 1932, it lagged one-quarter of the volume of the former year. United States exports dropped from $648,000,000 to $21,000,000 in 1932, while Canadian sales to this country fell from $503,000,000 to $185,000,000. Trade between the two countries increased, however, in 1934, when Canada exported to the United States goods worth $222,544,000 and bought American products valued at $293,779,813.

TRADE CLIMBING AGAIN
Now it is climbing again. For the first two-thirds of the current year Canada has bought approximately $218,000,000 in goods while sending $117,000,000 back to the United States.

Negotiations seeking a reciprocal trade agreement were started during the recently overturned regime of Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett.

Leading United States exports to Canada are in the following groups: Machinery, coal, crude petroleum and gasoline, chemicals and allied products, iron and steel products, automobiles, parts, fresh fruits, raw cotton, books and printed matter.

Chief imports from Canada consist of newsprint, wood and wood-pulp, fish, precious metals, chemicals and allied products, nickel, copper, furs and asbestos.

ST. LAWRENCE TREATY

President Roosevelt is believed anxious to submit the St. Lawrence Treaty to the Senate again this winter and Mr. King's visit will afford opportunity for discussing this problem.

Refers Acts To Supreme Court

Bennett Social Legislation Will Have Validity Decided, Says King Cabinet

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Nov. 5.—By an order-in-council passed yesterday the social legislation passed at the last session of Parliament was referred to the Supreme Court of Canada for an opinion on its validity.

Application is expected to be made this week to the court for the setting of an early date for the hearing.

The move will be made immediately after the reference has been approved formally by the Executive Council of the government.

The court's decision will be rendered before the Dominion-Provincial conference convenes here November 27.

TO NAME COUNSEL

A sitting of the court will be held next Thursday, but no arrangements have been initiated to make the application that day for a date for argument on the reference. One step which may be made to-day, is the naming of Dominion counsel for presentation of argument.

Constitutionality of the Marketing Act, Employment and Social Insurance Act and three measures relative to hours of labor and wages will come under the terms of the reference.

PREPARE REGULATIONS

Preparation of regulations under the Eight-Hour Day Act and the act providing for a weekly rest in industrial undertakings, is proceeding. It was announced to-day by Hon. Norman McLeod, Minister of Labor.

This is being done in order that if and when these acts, passed at the last session of Parliament, are declared valid by the Supreme Court of Canada regulations may be ready.

In the meantime, it has not been thought that any exemptions from the provisions of the two acts of Parliament in question can be granted to individual industries or classes of workers," the minister stated. It had been intimated on behalf of the government before the election "that until the regulations were drafted and finally approved no action should be taken in the nature of prosecutions or penalties."

New Support For Canadian Literature

Association of Bookmen Formed in Toronto Is Country-wide

Canadian Press
Toronto, Nov. 5.—Organization of the Association of Canadian Bookmen, "to stimulate the rapidly growing interest in books and reading in the Canadian public," was decided on a meeting here yesterday. Authors, librarians, literary critics, publishers and booksellers have agreed to join forces in sponsoring the association.

Promotion of Canadian literature will be a prominent feature of the programme, which will be finally formulated at an inaugural meeting planned for January, "but this is by no means an exclusive object," it was announced.

Montreal, Nov. 5.—A mysterious telephone call from her eleven-year-old daughter pleading to be taken home was received to-day by Mrs. W. F. Kernen, mother of Eileen Kernen, Montreal high school student who was snatched from the centre of a crowd of schoolmates while walking home yesterday and bundled into a motor car bearing United States license plates.

Mrs. Kernen said she answered a long distance call this morning to hear her daughter say, "Take me home, I hate this place. Take me home." When asked where she was the girl said, "In the Savoy Hotel," but was unable to tell her mother where the hotel was located.

QUEENA MARIO SUFFERS INJURIES

New York, Nov. 5.—Miss Queena Mario, Metropolitan Opera soprano, was injured painfully in a collision between her taxicab and an automobile yesterday. It became known to-day. Her injuries include torn shoulder ligaments and two scalp wounds.

Oaklands auditorium and a request go forward that the board call for tenders for the work. He included in his motion a clause that the city's policy in work distribution be followed by the board.

STORM DRAINS
Work on storm drains, principally those feeding the new drain through the Jubilee Hospital grounds, was approved and then referred to the executive of the public works committee and the city engineer with power to act. The appropriation for that work was set at $10,700.

Although a definite figure was set for the Cecilia Ravine drainage project, which is aimed to safeguard residents of that district from flood conditions caused by waters coming from Saanich, it was understood the committee was prepared to spend up to $11,000 for that work this year.

PARK GRANDSTAND
Considerable debate arose over the Macdonald Park grandstand recommendation. Alderman Worthington stated plans for the erection of a grandstand had been in the city's hands for two years that that efforts had been made to have someone make the cost of the erection to the city. No one had come forward and he thought it a matter on which part of the $100,000 should be spent. After noting the city had spent a lot of money on the project he brought in an original recommendation for a grandstand which would cost in the neighborhood of $7,500.

Alderman Andrew McGavin stated he did not think it right to spend that amount of money on the park grandstand when it might be applied to projects of greater urgency. He was prepared to see $3,500 spent on a grandstand there.

Alderman Worthington drew attention to the work sports organizations had done in construction of the park.

FAVOR STAND
Alderman Willis stated he thought the park was entitled to some sort of a grandstand, a position taken also by Alderman James Adam. Alderman Adam noted the park was one of the finest playing fields in the Dominion and needed a stand to be of value to the public.

The committee T. W. C. Hawkins brought in a recommendation the sum of $5,000 be earmarked for a grandstand and that tenders be called by the parks board for the work.

The committee set no specific figure for the grandstand, although although the sum of $2,000 was mentioned for the work. The corner at the intersection of Robertson and Ross Streets, Ross Street and Richmond Road and Richmond Road and Crescent Road were suggested.

They were referred to the city engineer and the public works committee executive for a report.

ROAD WORK
Similar action was taken with recommendations for the improvement of Topaz Avenue, a stretch of Pandora Avenue, a section of Fairfield Road and of McLaughlin Street.

The committee adjourned and the group sat at the City Council to approve the work done in the session, completing the question with the understanding an early start would be made at least on some of the projects.

The school board, meeting shortly after, decided to submit the Oaklands auditorium project to an architect and then to call for tenders on the work.

Canadian Press
North Bay, Ont., Nov. 5.—Dr. Ernest A. Hodgson, seismologist of the Dominion Observatory at Ottawa, said here yesterday that in North Bay from last Friday's earthquake would probably have been heavy had the city been built on other than solid rock foundation.

Dr. Hodgson will attempt to locate definitely the epicentre of the quake that was felt throughout most of eastern Canada and some parts of the United States.

SMALLER JURIES
FOR MANITOBA

Winnipeg, Nov. 5.—Six citizens will decide the guilt or innocence of the accused in each of twenty cases set down for trial at the fall assizes opened here to-day.

For the first time in Manitoba's history juries for trial of criminal cases consist of six men only, instead of the usual twelve. The change was made possible by an amendment to the Criminal Code of Canada passed at the last session of Parliament.

The amendment has now been adopted by Manitoba and Saskatchewan. Alberta has had six-man juries since 1922, a carryover of the old territorial law.

LITTLE POWER BOUGHT

Premier King Announces Defence Department Will Hand Over Relief Centres Where Single Men Are Gathered

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Nov. 5.—Camps for single unemployed men will shortly be transferred from the Department of National Defence to the Department of Labor, Premier King announced to-night. Hon. Norman Rogers, Minister of Labor, and officers of his department are now preparing to take over their supervision.

These camps have been the subject of much criticism since they were first established to take care of single men who would not be provided for by municipal relief. Strikes developed, culminating in treks on Ottawa.

TOTAL IS 15,000

About 15,000 men are cared for in the 130 camps. At present they are under the direction of the officers commanding the military districts in which they are located. Chief work done is clearing sites for aviation landing fields. Other construction work is done by the men in the camps at Valcartier, Que., and Ottawa, Barrfield and Trenton, in Ontario. Some roadwork is being carried out in British Columbia and another important undertaking is clearing the foreshore of Lac Seul in northwestern Ontario to provide power for Manitoba.

The men are provided with food, shelter, clothing and 20 cents a day. The cash allowance was the chief cause of complaint, the men claiming it was too little.

BIG SAVINGS MADE
BY G-MEN IN U.S.

Associated Press
Washington, Nov. 5.—The United States Justice Department said to-day that $38,481,686 was saved for the country and its citizens in cases investigated by the G-men during the year ended June 1.

The agents, with the fingerprint experts, scientists and other crime specialists who aid in the crime battle, cost the government $4,626,518 during the year, the department said. The chief saving was said to be in the field of war risk insurance provided for veterans injured in war. The agents of the federal bureau of investigation are assigned to look into litigious insurance cases, and the bureau said $35,202,028 was saved for the government.

LIQUOR IMPORTS OF U.S. GROWING

Associated Press
Washington, Nov. 5.—Increased consumption of legal liquor of domestic brands in the United States apparently has done nothing to quench thirst for the more expensive imported kinds.

Running counter to advance expectations of some officials, liquor imports have risen steadily this year, keeping pace with the upward trend in consumption of "home made" varieties.

Treasury officials declined to assign a reason for this, but said the governing factors are drinkers' tastes and "the size of their pocketbooks."

FIVE KILLED IN

Quebec Marriage
Laws Debated

Canadian Press
Montreal, Nov. 5.—Formation of a committee of Protestant clerical officials to "consider the question of marriage laws in Quebec" was disclosed here yesterday.

The committee, still in process of formation, held a meeting more than a week ago and discussed marriage laws as interpreted in recent Montreal legal judgments, but no definite programme has been arranged nor any definite objective established.

Annulments of marriages by Roman Catholic ecclesiastical courts on grounds one or both parties were Catholics and the officiating clergyman were Protestants have in some cases been given civil effect by certain judges of the Superior Court of Quebec. Disapproval has been voiced by Protestant clergymen as a consequence.

Says People Only Willing to Sacrifice Little Trade For Peace

Canadian Press
Toronto, Nov. 5.—Canada, unable to protect herself should she be attacked and undoubtedly dependent in such a crisis on Great Britain, was "completely standing by" and letting John Bull shoulder the burden of the League of Nations' fight for peace, Senator Arthur Meighen declared in an address here yesterday evening.

The Conservative leader in the Senate, addressing a joint banquet of the Toronto Board of Trade Club and the Young Men's Board of Trade, said Canada now showed herself unwilling to sacrifice anything more in the cause of world peace than her own small trade with Italy.

The United States, too, had "seen the Kellogg Pact torn to pieces," Senator Meighen said, "yet stands complacently by and says 'That's the job of European powers.'"

NATURAL RESOURCES

He presented statistics to show the wealth in natural resources of Canada, Australia and the United States and the vast unpopulated territory of each, compared with the lack of raw materials, the over-population and dependence on trade, much decreased during the depression, of Italy and Japan. Italy, he said, had no coal, iron, rubber, lead, zinc or hundreds of other raw products essential for the bare existence of a people.

But neither Canada nor the United States was willing to absorb Italy's over-population. The former Premier said he was holding no brief for Italy. He was seeking only to emphasize that Italy's problem was not just Europe's. It was a problem emphatically for the younger nations which offered fertile fields to an aggressor.

MAJORITY OPINION

Senator Meighen said he had no doubt the general sentiment of Canadian people was against making any great sacrifice in the cause of world peace.

"I personally have no doubt," he said, "that this is the general sentiment of our people, taken from coast to coast—that if they were asked how far they would go they would say, 'This is the limit; beyond this we shall not step.' In other words, our contribution to the cause of peace is the self-denial of a section of our trade that would not amount to more than a shilling piece."

"Are we telling those that will strike the blow that we will stand behind them?" he asked. "Are we not saying to our own mother country: 'We believe in you going to it, withholding the hand of Italy, but if there is to be any bloodshed don't look to us. We are at the peace end of this and nothing else.'"

YOUTH FACES
GREAT TASK

Young People Have Job of Rebuilding Smashed World, Says Moderator

Youth to-day is faced with the great task of reversing many popular ideas and rebuilding a smashed world with a new spiritual and moral foundation, Rt. Rev. Richard Roberts, moderator of the United Church of Canada, told a large gathering of young people and adults in the Metropolitan United Church yesterday.

The meeting was arranged by the young people of Greater Victoria to hear the special message which the church leader brought to youth.

While youth faced this great task which would require basic changes in the present form of democracy, Dr. Roberts said he was gratified that the problem rested with young people imbued with the right spirit whom, he was sure, would carry the future of the church safely.

The Moderator knew of nothing which had cheered him as much as the fact that the young people he had seen on his tour assured the future of the church.

MEMBERSHIP DOUBLED

In the first ten years of its existence the organization had more than doubled its membership.

He said he was going to lay his cards on the table and plead with the young people for a verdict by an act. Present youth inherited a heavier burden than any other generation. They inherited a smashed world and it was their duty to rebuild it and lay the spiritual and moral foundation of a new kind of world.

"We do not have to wait for anything and can go right ahead with our work which commences right in our own lives," he said.

To lay down this foundation meant the reversal of a good many of the standards of former generations. The Moderator referred to the coining of the phrase, "The dictatorship of God," as though God were like Mussolini.

"God is not like Mussolini; he is like Jesus of Nazareth," Dr. Roberts said. A dictator ordered men around, while God was so humble as to condescend and ask people for their devotion. "God persuades but does not coerce," Dr. Roberts said.

"We have done too much worshipping of just big men, forgetting that a man is mighty when he is in the hands of God," he said.

SPIRITUAL VICTORY

The moment of a man's complete outward defeat may be the moment of his complete inward victory, Dr. Roberts continued, while the moment of his outward victory might be his final defeat.

This, he pointed to as one of the ideas which had to be reversed. Dr. Roberts pointed to the fallacy of the idea that success came with wealth and fame. He charged that the church had become a tributary to this type of success, referring to one university professor who told his students to "be good Christians to be successful," meaning successful in a material way.

"Success for us must mean that we become fulfilled and that we become our brother's keeper. I think it is the only thing that God realizes as success."

"We must fill in the old words with new content," he continued. Canada should lead in peace, fair play, good will and a patriotism that made her lead in serving the world. Economic security and sufficiency were wanted, while prosperity and progress were required more in a spiritual way, with fuller knowledge of God, rather than in a material way.

"What is wrong with it?" Dr. Roberts asked. There was nothing wrong with it in its original form of social equality, but why had it failed? he asked.

The reason for this is that democracy makes a higher moral demand on men and women than men and women have been able to rise to "and thus they had been unable to work democracy," he said.

Democracy, he continued, had first appeared under the three great symbols, liberty, equality and fraternity. "To-day we have some liberty of a sort; no equality, except at a polling booth, and no fraternity worth talking about," he said.

The reason for the failure of democracy on these principles was that liberty must be established on a common sense of obedience, equality on a common ground of humility, and fraternity on a common mutual reverence.

The Moderator was welcomed on behalf of the young people by Rev. J. H. A. Warr, assistant pastor of Metropolitan United Church, and chairman of the Religious Education Council. Donald McCain, president of the Victoria and District Young People's Union, presided. Herbert Simpson, president of the Metropolitan Y.P.U., read the Scriptures and Rev. E. W. Horton, assistant pastor of First United Church, offered prayers.

Large Church Congregations and Radio Audience Hear Moderator's Message

Crowded church congregations and a large radio audience listened Sunday to impressive and powerfully delivered sermons by Rt. Rev. Richard Roberts, D.D., LL.D., Moderator of the United Church of Canada, who is conducting a three-day mission in the city.

Dr. Roberts, preaching at yesterday morning's service at First United Church, spoke on "The Practical Power of Christian Beliefs in Human Affairs."

At Metropolitan Church in the evening, the noted divine preached on "The Holy War," taking his text from

Ephesians, sixth chapter, twelfth verse, "For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places."

The speaker's message, delivered from the pulpit at Metropolitan Church, was transmitted by radio over CFCT to the Fairfield, Centennial, Oak Bay, Belmont, James Bay, St. Aidan's and Garden City churches, which were equipped with amplifiers, and also to up-land churches.

Apart from the church congregations many hundreds of people heard Dr. Roberts' radioed message in their homes.

After hearing an explanation from E. G. Snowden, city relief officer, who was called to testify by Alderman T. W. C. Hawkins, chairman of the relief committee, the City Council yesterday decided to continue its policy of issuing scrip to unemployed families for food and fuel. The city official outlined several difficulties and disadvantages in the way of issuing cash, as suggested by the Women's League for Social Justice, and the council concurred in his report.

WHAT IS THE STORY?

THERE IS, OF COURSE, AN INSIDE story of the Italo-Ethiopian conflict. There always is such a story when great powers of Europe become involved in critical situations over the imperialism of one or other of them. It never reaches the newspaper headlines until long after the crises have passed because it is developed behind the closed doors of the age-old secret diplomacy and is a record of international log-rolling, tacit engagements, deals and other transactions which would not look very well in the official announcements given out to the public.

For example, some great power or powers must have intervened privately to Mussolini months ago that he could have a free hand in Ethiopia, that while it was desirable to save the face of the League of Nations that institution would be deterred from intervening with enough force in time to prevent him occupying such territory in the African principality as he wanted to bolster up his crumbling Fascist structure in Italy. It is incredible that Italy would have run the risk of antagonizing the fifty-two members of the League unless her dictator had some guarantee that powerful influences would operate quietly in her behalf at Geneva, although she might be publicly denounced as the aggressor in her war with Ethiopia, and the tom-toms would be beaten in the various capitals.

Some time ago France and Italy smoothed out their differences in an understanding, the whole nature of which is still undisclosed. Prior to that time their relations were undeniably strained. Naval, military and financial affairs undoubtedly were considered. So were the respective spheres of the two countries in Tunis. Was not Ethiopia also in that picture? At the Stresa conference in May, a group of leading powers dealt with the European situation, renewed their adherence to the Treaty of Locarno and proposed a similar pact for eastern Europe. It would be strange, indeed, if Italy, whose relations with Ethiopia had been strained since the Walwal incident last year, did not bring up that matter. Subsequently, Great Britain entered into a naval agreement with Germany which greatly disturbed France. Was this the under-cover answer to an understanding between France and Italy whose implications were equally disturbing authoritative circles in London? In any case, there is a marked difference between what has gone on—and is going on—behind the scenes, and the drama which is being unfolded on the stage.

It is claimed by Mr. Lloyd George and others that the economic sanctions to be applied against Italy are not as drastic as the covenant of the League prescribes, and it is admitted that they will have no influence upon the war in Ethiopia until after the end of the year. By that time, however, the military operations will be held up by the elements, in any case, unless Italy should perform the miracle—which no other invader has been able to do—of subjugating the country in two months. It is noteworthy, also, that sanctions are not to be applied until November 18, although Italian troops have been in Ethiopian territory for nearly five weeks and Italy has been moving troops to East Africa for many months. More than 200,000 have been sent out there.

It is no secret that for a considerable time munitions and other supplies have been pouring into Italy in spite of the League's embargo against this traffic. It would be interesting to know how much money has been loaned to Italy by the Bank of France, for instance, and how far Mussolini has been able to take advantage of the leisurely processes of the League to prepare for the sanctions which are not to be applied for nearly two weeks yet.

Whatever may have gone on beneath the surface before July, there can be little doubt that France's adherence to the covenant of the League has been forced by Great Britain, whose government, since then, under the pressure of public opinion—which dislikes and suspects dictators, and is this time overwhelmingly behind the Geneva establishment—has realized that the whole system of collective security has been cast into the balance by the Italo-Ethiopian imbroglio, not to speak of the menace of Mussolini's imperialistic designs to vital British colonial interests.

The whole situation will be made clear, however, when the time of settlement has arrived, and it is possible to measure just how far the League will have protected the sovereignty of Ethiopia, every fraction of which is guaranteed by the terms of the covenant. In other words, how much of a bag will Haile Selassie be forced to hold in an effort to save Mussolini's face and avert a revolution in Italy which it is feared might spread elsewhere? Incidentally, it is significant enough that although Italy, according to Article 16, is deemed to be at war with the League, she remains a member of that organization on the preposterous ground that because there has been no formal declaration there is no war in Ethiopia. If the League is not hamstringing as it was when Japan plundered Manchuria, Ethiopian sovereignty will be left entirely unimpaired, and Italy will be the loser all along the line.

TRADE WITH THE UNITED STATES

ALTHOUGH PREMIER KING'S PRIMARY object in leaving Ottawa for a couple of weeks is to take a holiday in the southern states, it may be assumed that while he is a guest of President Roosevelt at the White House on Friday he will discuss matters in which both countries have a common interest, foremost among which, of course, will be the question of trade.

Some time ago negotiations were carried on between Ottawa and Washington with the object of developing a reciprocal trade agreement, but these latter were suspended. They have now been resumed and three Canadian government experts are now in Washington and conversations are in progress at the state department. Thus when Mr. King arrives in the United States capital he will find the groundwork for more direct consultation already prepared.

It is of the utmost importance that the tariff situation which has existed between Canada and the United States during the last few years should be clarified.

It has been a costly business for both countries and has contributed in no small measure to the reduction in the demand for labor on both sides of the international border.

It is true that in the last twelve months the value of the exchange in commodities has increased from $479,500,000 to $556,800,000—a gain of $77,300,000, but even the increased total—using figures for the twelve months ending last August—is $811,000,000 less than the value of the exchange five years ago. At that time the value of exports to and imports from the United States was $1,368,000,000—or more than $150,000,000 greater than Canada's external trade with all countries at the present time.

When these figures are borne in mind it will be realized how desirable it is that a really vigorous effort should be made by the two countries to come to a mutually-profitable trading arrangement so that a goodly part of the lost business can be recaptured.

It is interesting to note, incidentally, that the trade statistics for September just made public by the new Minister of Trade and Commerce, Hon. W. D. Euler, show that the value of imports into Canada from all countries—a little more than seventy—amounted to $44,689,463, and that the United States supplied us with goods worth $24,195,166, or more than half the total.

The first six months of the present fiscal year, April 1 to September 30, tell the same story. The all-countries' import total stands at $280,572,061, $154,576,086 of which represents our purchases from the United States. The significance of these comparisons is obvious.

THEIR ACID TEST

THE DECISION OF THE DEPARTMENT of Justice to submit to the Supreme Court immediately for constitutional determination a number of important measures adopted by Parliament in the last session is in line with the attitude taken by Mr. MacKenzie King and his supporters when this legislation was under discussion in the House.

The bills were thrown upon the House like an avalanche in the final session of the late government mainly for election purposes. It was hoped that the opposition would vote against them and thus present the administration with a first-rate campaign issue. In fact, it was common knowledge that when Mr. Bennett went to London to attend the silver anniversary celebration, he anticipated an early dissolution of Parliament on his return in consequence of opposition to these measures, some of which up to that time were scarcely more than titles and had not been digested by the members.

The opposition, however, refused to take the bait. It accepted the principle of the bills—to which nobody could take exception—but questioned the constitutionality of some of them and urged that they be first submitted to the Supreme Court for decision of that point. Even Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice in the Bennett administration, admitted in one conspicuous instance that he had been advised by eminent counsel that the legislation was outside the power of the federal Parliament and that he agreed with that advice. Nevertheless, the bills were forced through, although the opposition amended some of them in important respects.

There is not the slightest use of proceeding with the operation of this legislation unless it is certain that it would not be thrown out by legal action as soon as it got before a judicial tribunal—which all of it inevitably would. Some of the bills provide for an army of officials, and it was admitted in the House that their operation would involve an additional annual expenditure of some $4,000,000—which was a conservative estimate. Some of them obviously trespass upon provincial jurisdiction, and provide for services which would overlap similar activities by the provinces. Those which are declared by the Supreme Court to be unconstitutional automatically will pass into oblivion. Those which are within the competence of Parliament should be carefully overhauled and made useful in operation; if they do not impose too great a strain upon the federal treasury.

The British shirt business has got another boost. The Social Crediters over there are now to be known as the "green shirts." This will probably put Fascist Mosley's "black shirts" in the shade. Green is more vivid than black.

Social Crediters in Great Britain are perplexed because Premier Abernethy has not officially invited Major Douglas after announcing that the inventor of the new economic system would leave London for the Alberta province on November 2. Perhaps Premier Abernethy has found the way to get that twenty-five-dollar-a-month dividend without any further assistance from Major Douglas.

Latest figures from Washington show that Canadian cattle have been going into the United States in large numbers during the last twelve months. Only 7,000 were exported in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1934, but 83,000 crossed the line in the year ending with last June. This increased business has been done in spite of an adverse tariff of 2½ cents a pound on animals weighing up to 700 pounds and 3 cents above that weight.

THE YOUNGEST CHILD

I'm told by good authority
 That it is difficult to be
 The youngest child and stand about
 To see the elder ones go out
 To dinners, dances, and to shows
 And be the one who never goes.

'Tis rather hard, as I've been told,
 To be eleven or twelve years old
 And still be much too young to do
 So many things you're wanting to:
 To see the others gayly roam
 And always have to stay at home.

I know by evidence compiled
 'Tis hard to be the youngest child.
 This sentence doomed always to know:
 "Of course, my dear, you cannot go.
 Your brother's going? That may be.
 But you are not as old as he."

By doleful wails and plaints and sighs
 I'm told injustice underlies
 The joys of childhood. Being small
 Is not a bit of fun at all.
 Take it from me, the youngest child,
 'Tis hard to be the youngest child.

Loose Ends

A comic urge sweeps the country—it is very nice for those who feel it—but hard on editors like Mr. Moore—Mr. Labourdale preserves the Cariboo—and Santa Claus is streamlined.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

COSMIC URGE

AMONG THE STRONGEST cosmic urges of these uproarious times is the urge to write. Hardly anybody seems to escape it. A large part of the population of Canada is scribbling secretly in the dead of the night. This very policeman on the corner is probably writing a classical play in blank verse, if you could only track him to the place where policemen hide when they aren't on the corner.

This is not my opinion. It is the statement of Napier Moore, who edits MacLean's Magazine and has been out here the last few days looking over the budding authors. Mr. Moore says the country will never lack writers, though it may be short on authors. He says it is fairly crawling with writers, several of them to every square foot from Victoria to Halifax. Mr. Moore loves them all but some of them become a little wearing, even on a strong constitution.

When he got to the Vancouver Hotel last week, Mr. Moore found forty-five pounds of manuscripts already waiting for him. When he got into Winnipeg at 7 o'clock in the morning one of the hotel filled with writers who wanted to sell something to him, and the hotel manager said he'd have to take his company somewhere else. When he escaped into his bedroom, they followed him, like hound dogs and he didn't get his breakfast until 1 o'clock in the afternoon.

Authors, says Mr. Moore, are like that. You can't tend them off. You can't smooth them down or turn them away with a soft answer. You have just got to listen to them and hope they go away on a holiday to recover. During the holiday you are sure to run into more authors.

CULTURE

THIS IS VERY inspiring. I mean, what is the use of the professors and the philosophers talking about our declining culture and the decay of our artistic instincts when Canada on foot and thought a jolting freight wagon, hauled by oxen, was a luxury.

STREAMLINED

SANTA CLAUS, it seems, is having a hard time these days. He has had to learn his ancient trade all over again. There is no use these days turning out rag dolls, stuffed elephants and simple red wagons to be pulled around. Those things were good enough for us, used to thrill us to the core. But they aren't good enough for the modern child. In the United States this month they are turning out $100,000,000 worth of toys for distribution at Christmas and such are the demands of the modern child that the toy makers have had to alter all their designs. The toy automobiles and bicycles have to be streamlined like the latest cars. Many toy motorcycles carry radios that actually work. The electric toys, which are designed to open and close doors as you walk across it, has been introduced into many toys to make them stop and go.

How they are going to keep alive the legend of Father Christmas when the child demands devices like that, one can't imagine. Instead of a jolly old boy with a red nose, suggesting that he drinks a quart of Scotch a day, Santa will have to become an owl-faced scientist with heavy spectacles and carrying a test tube.

But the new style in toys is a logical development of the age and will fit the children to live in the world that he must live in when he grows up. It will make him a perfect citizen for such a world, a creature who depends on electric buttons which he doesn't understand, who is conveyed about in an automobile which he can't fix whose very existence depends on a mass of machinery which he has never seen.

U.S. PARTY IS APPRECIATIVE

Victoria's Hospitality Cements Goodwill, Messages State

The international friendship that had been created by the reception tendered to Vice-President Garner and the party of United States Senators and Congressmen who visited Victoria recently made it one of the most worthy things the Chamber of Commerce had ever done, directors of the chamber stated at a meeting held yesterday afternoon.

Message from members of the party expressing their appreciation of the reception and the hospitality extended by the British Columbia Government and the Chamber of Commerce were read. Several of them said that the goodwill shown had created the desire to pay another visit to Victoria when they had more time at their disposal.

"How you folks in Victoria do know how to do things up right," read an appreciative message from H. Woods, publisher of The Wenatchee World, who added he was echoing the thoughts of many of the party when he said the welcome extended would go a long way in cementing international goodwill.

Thanks to the Chamber of Commerce for arranging the drive around the city and the baguette in the evening were also conveyed by Premier Pattullo.

It was decided that to give the members of the United States party

Importance Of Laity Is Told

Moderator of United Church Says Laymen Play Principal Part

The importance of the part played by the laity in the church to-day exceeded that of the ministry and was instrumental in making the church the greatest stream of the world which prevented it from becoming inconceivably cold, Right Rev. Richard Roberts, Toronto, Moderator of the United Church of Canada, told a luncheon gathering of laymen in Spencer's dining-room yesterday.

James Strang presided and introduced and thanked the speaker.

"The more I have seen of these gatherings the more I am encouraged for our church," Dr. Roberts said in paying tribute to the splendid work of the United Church laity.

"When the laity cease to feel any responsibility for the safety of the church, then that church is doomed to failure. This is not the case with the United Church," he said.

"I want you to know your work and faithfulness is profoundly appreciated," Dr. Roberts continued. He trusted this faith of responsibility would continue.

The Moderator was convinced that the daily work of the church was the most important single service in the world.

This work was evidenced at annual church meetings, where reports indicated the vast number of personal contacts made by members of the church in all sorts of ways.

"The church is actually the gulf-stream of this world which prevents it becoming inconceivably cold," he said. "The work we are doing is actually keeping the world alive."

He viewed the work of the minister as the lesser work in the church. He dealt with defects of the church which he said were attributed to the people themselves.

Any criticisms directed at the church are directed at us," he said. The moderator thanked God that He had composed the church of "sinful people like you and me," and not an elite or select few. God made it so that every Tom, Dick and Harry could come along and pass criticism on it.

He prayed God that the day would come when it would be a perfect church but in the meantime he thanked Him for making it what it was.

Dr. Roberts did not believe any society in the world could withstand the difficulties the church had done.

ESCAPES DESTRUCTION

"The church still goes on and when any enemies have sought to destroy it it has escaped their hands," he said. He alluded to the attack launched by Voltaire and his followers in the French Revolution which it had overcome.

"I believe one of the great hours in the history of the church is fast approaching," Dr. Roberts said. Crowds were not necessarily test-

Further pleasant memories of Victoria's spring of holly should be sent to them with a suitable greeting at Christmas time.

W. T. Strath, president of the chamber, said thanks were due to George I. Warren, managing secretary, who made arrangements when he was in Seattle for the visitors to come to Victoria, and to W. Findlay, assistant secretary, for their work in connection with the affair.

mony of the work of the church. "We have got to preach the gospel and stand by the gospel," he said, "laying all types of sensationalism which sought to 'draw crowds for the sake of crowds' to church."

This period has been the greatest period of missionary expansion in the history of the church said Dr. Roberts in referring to the last 100 years.

Future historians would describe the last 100 years as one of the greatest adventurous periods in church history, he continued.

"If we can get perspective into our view of it we will be able to see it as the New Testament describes it," he said.

"The church is the organ of Christ's redeeming and creating presence in the world," he said.

HUNTERS' NOTES

Porky Andrews, sharp-shooting ace of the Dominions, formerly the Blue Ribbons, yesterday proved himself to be as good a shot with a rifle as he is with a basketball. Hunting in the vicinity of Duran Lake, which is in the Highland District, with Red Shmitt of Pimley and Ritchie's Sporting Goods Store, Porky bagged a sizable jork buck first shot.

He was making his debut in this sport.

Bill Levy, 1026 Empress Avenue and party of two each bagged a fine spike.

C. H. Clarke, Maplewood Avenue, yesterday killed a fork buck in the east Sooke district.

Sid Jenkins, Times composing room, weighed in a 110-pound buck at Sylvester U. Drive Limited, which he bagged at Sooke.

It is the running season for deer now and hunters state that the clear crisp weather, that is being enjoyed at the present time in the early morning is ideal for deer hunting.

Duck hunting over the week-end at Cowichan flats was reported to be excellent, especially for teal. Roger Monteith, local hunter, and C. S. Allen, both got their limit, which is twenty. The bag consisted mostly of teal, with one or two mallards and pin-tail. Mr. Monteith reports that while hunting on the flats he saw four wild swans, and wishes to warn hunters that these birds are protected under the Migratory Birds Act, and can easily be mistaken for snow geese and shot by mistake.

Norman Lord and Al Jordan got their limit apiece also at Cowichan Bay. Most of them consisted of teal. An interesting tale is told, which happened on the closing day of the grouse shooting season. Hunting with Arthur Pitts, Fred Payne, local resident of Hillcrest, was out to bag a nice tasty dinner when he aroused a Mr. Potts took a pot shot at it and low and behold what should fall out of the tree but a blue and willow grouse.

600 YEARS TO BUILD

Through more than six centuries, the mighty cathedral at Cologne, in Germany, was under construction until to-day it appears to visitors not so much for its modernized outer architecture as for its more imposing and graceful interior. Begun in the thirteenth century, pausing in its growth through various conflicts, and even falling into disrepair for a while, the cathedral finally was completed in 1880 by Emperor William I.

Early in its history, Cologne Cathedral was repository for the skulls of the Three Wise Men of the East who had come to Bethlehem to do homage to the newborn Jesus. Hosts of pilgrims came here to view these relics in the Chapel of the Magi. But the only proof of these bones to-day is the good reliquary which is kept in the treasury of the church.

This great cathedral is illustrated on a 1935 stamp of Germany, shown here, and again on two later issues picturing the city.

RUSSIA DOES NOT WANT WAR

Determined to Stay Out, Says Julian Bryan, Roving Cameraman, Here To-day

"For the next ten years the problems of Russia will be internal and I am convinced that under no condition will she become involved in a major war," stated Julian Bryan, traveler, explorer and film cameraman, who is the roving reporter for "March of Time," and who came ashore at Victoria yesterday from the Ss. Empress of Russia.

He was returning from his annual visit to Russia and a trip through Manchukuo and Japan. Mr. Bryan said conditions in Russia were improving greatly. He has been there each summer for the last six years. He endeavors to take pictures of the people about their everyday tasks. He avoids posed pictures as much as possible, although, of course, he must take them sometimes.

NO MORE QUEUES

"The ration system in Russia is over with," said Mr. Bryan. "That fact doesn't mean much to us in America, but for the Russians it is a great thing. No longer do they have to stand in queues for their food. About the only queues, strangely enough, are for newspapers. Of course, I don't mean to say they have porterhouse steaks and other such delicacies, but at least they can get meat and bread and other such things without for hours standing in line."

"In Moscow alone," Mr. Bryan continued, "there are 500 new stores this year. Before that there were no stores at all, so things are now easier for the people, although goods in those stores are pretty expensive. Not one of these stores has any private capital. All are very definitely controlled by the government."

PACIFIST NATION

As a nation, Russia, Mr. Bryan said, is a determined pacifist, and he pointed out as evidence of this the selling of its interests in the Chinese Eastern Railway. He said Russia was no longer afraid of war, but was determined to keep out of any that might start in Europe or Asia. In spite of all publicity in Canada and the United States about the Russian system being a breakdown and a failure, things were going ahead there very steadily, in Mr. Bryan's opinion.

It was Mr. Bryan's first visit to Manchukuo and Japan and he said he was much impressed with both countries. He took many thousands of feet of film and endeavored as much as possible to secure a serious, careful study of the home life of the people. He said he secured some fine shots of army and government officials.

The airplane was used a great deal by Mr. Bryan, who flew to Jehol to take some pictures. He had praise for Japanese aviators and disagreed with the general belief that Japanese do not make good fliers.

"MARCH OF TIME"

Mr. Bryan's pictures will appear on the "March of Time," short features, which are now gaining popularity with theatre people in Canada and the United States. He made his trip for the magazine Time and Fortune.

After the New Year he will start a lecture tour of America, coming to the Pacific coast and San Francisco.

No arrangement has been made for him to come to Victoria, although he said he would be glad to do so if it was found convenient.

Mr. Bryan was met in Victoria this morning by his tour manager, Mrs. M. J. Stevenson of San Francisco. They had luncheon at the Empress Hotel and proceeded to Vancouver on the afternoon boat.

GOLD SCALES ARE SECURED

B.C. Has to Go to Germany to Get Fine Weighing

After scouring the North American continent unsuccessfully for scales to weigh gold in small quantities, the B.C. government finally had to place an order in Germany for twenty-six sets so it could implement its policy of assisting placer miners by purchasing their gold.

The finance department announced today that the new scales will arrive here in a week's time and then will be forwarded to gold commission and government agents who are to buy the gold.

Only seven sets of scales could be located when the government initiated its plan a few months ago. Not so many "ears ago every hotel and bar in the placer mining camps had them, but they have gradually disappeared.

Gold purchases made so far run to only a few hundred dollars, chiefly due to the lack of scales and also because the plan was not widely known. The government has offered to buy gold in lots of not less than three pennyweight and not more than two ounces from any one person at one time. This is to assist individual miners who are often forced to accept very low rates for their gold in exchange for supplies.

LIQUOR TRIAL

Preston, Idaho, Nov. 5 (Associated Press).—G. A. Brewer and Miss Roberts James, employees of the state liquor store here, must stand trial on charges of selling liquor to minors unlawfully holding state permits, as the result of action brought by chief of police Austin Merrill and sheriff William H. Head.

In seventeenth century London, tea was recommended as a means of reducing.

DEBT REVISION BOARD IS PLAN

Legislative Action to Readjust Land Agreements Proposed For B.C.

Relief in the way of lower interest and readjustment of terms for persons holding land under agreement with the government or participating in diking and irrigation schemes is proposed in a scheme now being worked out by Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of lands.

Mr. Gray said to-day a board would be set up to investigate the agreements. He proposed it should have power to make settlements based on ability to pay. Its functioning would be along the lines of the boards set

Whether the "Pain" Remedy You Use is SAFE

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations.

THE person to ask whether the preparation you or your family are taking for the relief of headaches and pains of rheumatism, neuritis and neuralgia is SAFE to use regularly is your family doctor. Ask him particularly in regard to "ASPIRIN."

He will tell you that before the discovery of "Aspirin" most "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as upsetting to the stomach and, often, bad for the heart. Which is food for thought if you seek quick, safe relief.

Scientists rate "Aspirin" among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and the pains of rheumatism, neuritis and neuralgia. And the experience of millions of users has proved it safe for the average person to use regularly. In your own interest remember this. "Aspirin" Tablets are made in Canada. "Aspirin" is the registered trade-mark of the Bayer Company, Limited of Canada. Be sure to look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every tablet.

600 YEARS TO BUILD

Through more than six centuries, the mighty cathedral at Cologne, in Germany, was under construction until to-day it appears to visitors not so much for its modernized outer architecture as for its more imposing and graceful interior. Begun in the thirteenth century, pausing in its growth through various conflicts, and even falling into disrepair for a while, the cathedral finally was completed in 1880 by Emperor William I.

Early in its history, Cologne Cathedral was repository for the skulls of the Three Wise Men of the East who had come to Bethlehem to do homage to the newborn Jesus. Hosts of pilgrims came here to view these relics in the Chapel of the Magi. But the only proof of these bones to-day is the good reliquary which is kept in the treasury of the church.

This great cathedral is illustrated on a 1935 stamp of Germany, shown here, and again on two later issues picturing the city.

Gray Hair

Best Remedy is Made At Home

You can now make at home a better gray hair remedy than you can buy by following this simple recipe: To half pint of water add one ounce bay rum, a small box of Ortel Compound and one-fourth ounce of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up for you or you can mix it yourself at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained.

Ortel imparts color to streaked, faded or gray hair—mink-like, soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.

DIONNE BABIES BEGIN TO WALK

Callander, Ont., Nov. 5 (Canadian Press).—Four of the famous Dionne quintuplets tottered without support yesterday while baby Marie, youngest of the children, was able to make her way for a few feet with the aid of one of her nurse's fingers.

The babies are now being viewed by the public only once a day, and Dr. A. R. Dufour, their physician, said the infants were in "tip top form."

Viscountess Colville, Mrs. H. R. Gale and L. Pletley-Jones are represented by charming bits of Old Country scenery. Bits of the beaten track in Victoria, such as tumbledown exteriors in Chinatown and James Bay, provided subject matter for Unity Bails and A. Adson, while Adeline Baxter's study of a Russian maid is excellently drawn and full of life.

FIGURE STUDIES
Mrs. S. MacLure's striking Indian heads, one of which is destined for New York, and a delightful dancer by Cyril Connorton, are among the most striking of the figure studies in the collection, although in the oils Charles H. Smith is represented by a virile portrait of a man in a beryl.

Examples of her work, has an arresting conventionalized study of roofs over which one sees the distant harbor; C. F. In the pastels, Patience Birley has some enchanting studies of dogs; Adeline Baxter and Eleanor Izard, several portraits, Jean Middleton, Donald, Baroness Henry, Mabel Hobbs, Lady Colville, B. C. Newton are also represented in this section.

FLOWER SUBJECTS
Flower studies are more numerous than usual, and although Mrs. Melita Aitken's outstanding work is unfortunately absent this year, some notable contributions to this section are made by Mrs. G. P. Napier, who has chosen a conventionalized theme for her three watercolors; Mrs. C. R. Hodgins, Clare Curwen and Dorothy Woodward. Only three pieces of sculpture are shown, including a beautiful girl's head by Earl Clarke, and two very fine bronzes heads by Mrs. Saunders.

CRAFTS GROWING

Maynard, Mrs. McMoran, Miss Woodward, Miss Dwyer and Miss Ethel Earle being represented by attractive displays. ## Arts and Crafts Society Opens Annual Exhibition

Sir Richard Lake Performs
Opening; Need of Permanent Gallery Emphasized; Exhibits Numerous and Varied

The plea for a permanent art gallery in Victoria was reiterated by speakers at the formal opening of the annual exhibition of the Island Arts and Crafts Association at the Belmont Building yesterday afternoon. The gathering passed a resolution to appoint a committee to go into the whole question of ways and means, with a view to launching an active campaign to bring to fruition this long-felt need.

Introduced by D. S. Cameron, the president, the speakers were Sir Richard Lake, who formally opened the exhibition, and Lindley Crease, K.C. Sir Richard congratulated the society on its long record of achievement, briefly reviewing its progress since its formation in 1908. He made special reference to the splendid co-operation of the Department of Education in its night school arts and crafts classes, to the contribution made by the society's Sketch Club and life classes and to its arrangement of occasional loan collections by representative artists. Sir Richard and Mr. Crease both spoke of the comparative paucity of artistic effort here, in view of Nature's generous gifts to Victoria and the island. The membership of 150 was far too small, and more general support was urged. Mr. Crease observed that sacrifices were necessary to achieve the highest art and he recalled meeting a well-known artist in the Rockies, who day after day sat in the freezing cold to capture on canvas the awe-inspiring majesty of the mountains.

Recent Weddings

McQUARRIE-MAITLAND
Vancouver, Nov. 5.—Deep rich shades have once more been chosen for the medium of expressing the Renaissance influence upon the modern age. At a pretty wedding on Saturday the bride, Miss Mary Maitland, wore a floor-length gown of French violet velvet, the shirring on the shoulder giving fullness to the sleeves which were gathered at the elbow with heavy cording and gold clips fastening on either side of the neck and belt. Her bridesmaid, Miss Pearl Maitland, wore a gown of moss green velvet with full bishop sleeves. Mary Margaret, daughter of Mrs. Barbara Maitland, was married to Mr. Hector Neil McQuarrie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McQuarrie, North Vancouver, on November 2, with Rev. Hugh M. Rae officiating. Mrs. Maitland gave her daughter in marriage. The groom was supported by Mr. Archie McQuarrie. With the bride wearing a navy blue ripple crepe dress and navy top coat, hat and accessories, the couple left by motor for the south. On their return they will reside in Victoria.

MacLEOD-POLSON
Christ Church Cathedral, Vancouver, with its floral background of white shaggy chrysanthemums was the setting of a very pretty wedding on Saturday evening when Agnes Elizabeth Scott, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Polson of Victoria, became the bride of Mr. James MacLeod, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. MacLeod of Drumheller, Alberta. Rev. Wilkinson performed the ceremony and the groom was supported by Mr. Donald MacLeod, his brother, and Mr. Robert Sinclair. The ushers were Mr. Malcolm MacPherson, nephew of the groom, and Mr. Archie MacDiarmid.

The bride, given in marriage by Mr. Duncan MacKenzie, made a charming figure in her bridal gown of lustrous white satin, featuring tiny pleating. The deep cool neckline was closed by tiny satin buttons continuing to the waist, allowing the full flare of the skirt to fashion a long court train. The web sleeves again featured tiny pleating and the satin buttons. Her filmy veil of silk net was held in place by a coronet of orange blossoms and braided satin, which also showed the pleating. Her bouquet was of butterfly and carnations. Her two attendants, Miss Lillian Polson, her sister, as maid of honor, and Miss Mary Ann MacKenzie, as bridesmaid, wore becoming gowns of pink and blue respectively. Miss Polson was in rose pink, taffeta, featuring a long court train and a sweeping full skirt with a contrasting green velvet sash. Her matching hat with its tiny band of green velvet and elbow length gloves completed her ensemble. She carried a sheaf of shaggy pink chrysanthemums. Miss MacKenzie wore a becoming gown of smoky blue suede lace which featured tightly-fitted sleeves and a deep cool neckline with diamante clips. Her picture hat was of matching color, with contrasting pink velvet trimmings, and she carried shaggy pink tulle.

A reception was held in the Hotel Georgia where the bride party received the many guests, who were piped in by Piper William MacLeod. The daintily-appointed tea table was centred with a three-tiered cake embedded in pink tulle which was surrounded by silver scones holding pink candies and silver vases with pink carnations. The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Neil MacPherson and suitably replied to by the groom. When the young couple left on their honeymoon trip the bride donned a black French tulle suit with a white fox fur and a little black turban, and her flowers were pink rosebuds. She carried a heavy checked sports coat. On their return they will reside in Vancouver.

BUTCHER-BAVIS
The provincial registrar officiated at the marriage on Monday, October 28, of Charles Lawrence Butcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Butcher, Greenwood Avenue, Esquimalt, and Cornelia May Bavis, eldest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Bavis, Fernwood Road.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

IF THE CHILD REFUSES FOOD TO GAIN ATTENTION—REFUSE ATTENTION

It is the fault of the parents when the dinner table conversation consists chiefly of arguments with the child about what he should and will not eat. Such arguments offer the child an easy opportunity to hold adult attention at the table, since the child remains perforce the centre of interest. It is quite possible that the child may refuse food for no other reason than this.

"I have a daughter five and one-half years old," writes Mrs. L. C. "For the past six months we have had a real problem. She seems to lack appetite. When mealtime is due she sits hungry, but the moment she looks at food she says she does not want this or that—and is always playing with it instead of eating."

WEIGHS FORTY-FIVE POUNDS
"I do not like to force her to eat as it makes her cry. Her father is tired of hearing these same arguments at the table every day. She eats a good breakfast and is hungry when she comes from kindergarten, but then the trouble starts. She likes only uncooked vegetables. She weighs forty-five pounds, would you call this underweight?"

"Mrs. Eldred, do you know of any way a mother might exercise to develop sagging breasts due to nursing?" In what way is the breakfast situation different from the night one?

Mothers Aided by Guide to Better Control of Colds

Practical Plan is Helping Families Everywhere to Have Fewer, Milder and Shorter Colds

SIMPLE AND EASY TO FOLLOW

Already, thousands of Canadian mothers are benefiting by following Vicks VapoRub Plan for Better Control of Colds—proving for themselves that it is a practical home guide to fewer and shorter colds.

This commonsense, medically sound plan represents the 30 years' experience of Vicks Chemists in studying colds. It has been tested in extensive clinics by practicing physicians—further proved in everyday home use throughout the country.

Here, briefly, are the three simple steps in Vicks Plan:

1. To Help Build RESISTANCE to Colds

Live normally—avoid excesses. Eat simple foods and keep elimination regular. Drink plenty of water. Take some exercise daily—outdoors preferably. Get plenty of rest and sleep.

2. To Help PREVENT Many Colds

At the first warning of nasal irritation, sniffle or sneeze, use Vicks VapoRub. Just a few drops up each nostril. VapoRub is especially designed for the nose and upper throat—where most colds start. Used in time, VapoRub helps to prevent many colds—and to throw off head colds in the early stages.

3. To END a Cold Sooner

If a cold has developed, or strikes without warning, rub throat and chest at bedtime with Vicks VapoRub. VapoRub acts two ways at once: (1) By stimulation through the skin, like a poultice or plaster; (2) By inhalation of its penetrating medicated vapor, direct to inflamed air-passages. Through the night, this combined vapor-poultice action loosens phlegm, soothes irritation, helps break congestion.

What Vicks Plan can do for you and your family can be proved only by trying it. Directions for following the Vicks Plan are in each package of Vicks VapoRub and Vicks VapoRub.

Is it possible that "father" is gone?

If the child eats heartily when he is not there, then you have an answer to your question. Let the child eat before you do at noon or night. Serve her meal, giving consideration to normal likes and dislikes, and after you have put the food before her make no comment whatever on what she does or does not eat. What good does it do?

If she must eat with you, try to manufacture conversation that is utterly divorced from food. Even if the child gets up without having eaten anything, try to ignore it. You have tried the arguments with no result.

CHILD CONVERSATION INCLUDE

Often children are bored by talk which is entirely concerned with adult affairs and such ostracism drives them to find ways to snare the parental notice. Non-eating is a sure way.

Try to act as you might to some little stranger who was eating at your table and see if you will not find some way of including her in the dinner table conversation.

I know of nothing to develop sagging breasts since this is a perfectly natural result of nursing.

Wear a brassiere.

Earphones Given

To T.B. Patients

Fifty-three sets of earphones were donated to the pavilion at the Royal Jubilee Hospital in response to the plea of the Florence Nightingale Chapter, I.O.D.E. It was reported at yesterday's meeting of the chapter, the members expressed their appreciation of the generous response, and especially to Rev. Dr. Clem Davis for broadcasting the chapters needs over C.F.T., to which the public generously contributed. The chapter will purchase the necessary equipment for the installation of the earphones, one to each patient's bed.

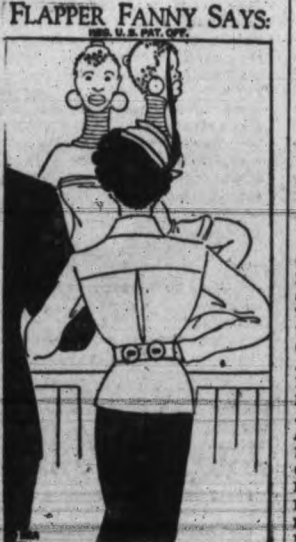

Wool for warm socks for the men patients was requested, and two members offered to supply the wool.

The sum of $15 was voted towards the Municipal Chapter's Christmas hamper fund, and $6 for the purchase of a wreath to be placed by Mrs. James Baker on the Cenotaph on Remembrance Day. The chapter will assist with the selling of poppies on Poppy Day.

Mrs. G. Mellor reported on the success of the bridge party held recently at which the sum of $25 was realized. Letters of thanks were read from the Peace River district and the Children's Aid Society for clothing and books which had been sent.

Plans are well under way for the annual bazaar to be held on December 7. Mrs. Standerwick will entertain the members at the next sewing meeting at her home, 1581 Elford Street, on Thursday, November 14, at 2:30 p.m., and Mrs. James Baker, 714 Discovery Street, on Thursday, November 28. Mrs. P. E. Dudgeon was welcomed as a new member by the regent, Mrs. K. Symons, who presided during the business session.

ROYAL WEDDING GIFTS SHOWN

Miner's Wife Sends Cushion to Lady Alice Scott; Irish Wedding Cake

Associated Press
London, Nov. 5.—A humble British house to-day provided the first wedding present for Lady Alice Montagu-Douglas-Scott, who will be married to-morrow to the Duke of Gloucester, third son of Their Majesties.

One of the first gifts was a cushion, worked by a miner's wife. In the traditional hand-quitting design of the period when quilting was used by chain mail-clad British warriors for undergarments.

The gift of the women of Ulster was a supply of household linen, while another Northern Ireland present was a 150-pound wedding cake five feet high.

These and nearly 1,000 other presents were placed on display in a seven-room suite of St. James Palace, the residence of the Prince of Wales, under a special guard of Scottish Yard men.

Former King George of Greece sent an antique silver candlestick, and the Aga Khan an elephant tusk. Two rolls of tweeds were brought to Lady Alice from the Outer Hebrides, the islands north of Scotland.

The couple will be married to-morrow at a private ceremony in the Buckingham Palace chapel, the public wedding previously arranged for Westminster Abbey having been cancelled because of the recent death of Lady Alice's father, the late Duke of Buccleuch.

Canadian Press Cable
London, Nov. 5.—Newfoundland's gift to Lady Alice Scott, who will become the bride of the Duke of Gloucester on Wednesday, was delivered at St. James Palace yesterday.

It is a cape designed by Molynex from four Labrador white fox skins, the latest of about 1,000 gifts to the bride and groom.

The Queen sent a number of presents, including a turquoise and diamond tiara. The Duke of Gloucester chose as gifts his bride two diamond tiaras.

a diamond and emerald brooch, a pair of pearl and diamond bracelets, a pair of emerald and diamond earrings and a diamond corsage ornament.

ROB PRINCESS IN TORONTO

Jewels Valued $7,500 Stolen From Spanish Prince's Bride at Royal York

Toronto, Nov. 5.—Apparently unperturbed by the loss valued at $7,500 from their suite at the Royal York Hotel, the Prince of the Asturias and his bride, the Princess Maria Mercedes de Bourbon-Orleans, entertained at 7:15 o'clock last night for Niagara Falls, destination of their wedding trip.

In the regal suite of the hotel, squads of Toronto headquarters detectives remained checking over clues, taking fingerprints and questioning hotel employees.

STOLEN FROM BOX

Nineteen pieces of jewelry, mainly brooches and pendants of rubies, pearls and brilliants, and two Spanish orders, were stolen from a jewel box in the Princess's chiffonier at lunch time. The Prince and Princess were at the home of R. Dean Willie, Shadowbrook, and the maid, Suzanne, also went out to luncheon. She returned to find the door of the suite open, the chiffonier in the bedroom disarranged and the jewel box pried open.

Insurance practically to the full amount of the estimated loss covered the jewels.

Fight colds where they start—in the throat—with LISTERINE

Safe antiseptic kills millions of germs associated with sore throat and colds

DON'T go on suffering with heavy colds that undermine your strength. Don't put up with painful sore throats. Go after these conditions in the sensible, scientific way.

Kills germs in the throat

Listerine attacks the germs associated with colds and sore throat. Almost immediately after gargling it kills literally millions of them in throat and mouth, before they have a chance to enter the body.

Scientific tests in 1930-31, 1931-32 and 1934 have shown this comforting result: that those who gargled with Listerine twice a day or oftener caught fewer colds than non-garglers.

Moreover, when Listerine users did catch cold, their colds were milder and of shorter duration than those of non-users.

At the first sign of a cold

Start using Listerine today. As you can see, it is an intelligent precaution against cold infections. If you feel your throat getting sore, or a cold coming on, use Listerine more frequently—every 3 hours is recommended. Lambert Pharmacal Company, (Canada) Ltd., Toronto, Ont.

Chamber of Commerce Wants Action Halted Until All Provinces Agree

A vote against the establishment of a separate state health insurance scheme for British Columbia was recorded without dissent at a meeting of directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

The report agreed with the Vancouver Board of Trade view that British Columbia should not adopt a state health insurance scheme until all the provinces of Canada had got together and adopted a uniform system.

The report recommended the Victoria Chamber of Commerce endorse this view and request the provincial governments take no steps to bring legislation in force.

English Drama In Transition

Prof. F. G. C. Wood Gives Lecture on Playwrights of London Stage

A transition period, when the stage was passing from the hands of the old masters to younger men who "had not yet found themselves" was the theme of Professor F. G. C. Wood's lecture on "Present Day Drama in England" before the University Extension Society in the Girls' Central School yesterday evening.

Professor Wood discussed the twilight of the older men who had set the fashion at the beginning of the twentieth century. John Galsworthy was dead. Sir James Barrie had not written a full length drama for a long time.

Somerset Maugham had penned his swan song in "Shepp" a satire on religion, and a rather queer play for his age.

"The last four plays of George Bernard Shaw show nothing that make us grateful to Mr. Shaw," Professor Wood declared. "There is little of the old time fire, little of the splendor of thought and expression in these plays. There are few dramatic moments. People are just brought together and they do nothing but talk, and their discussions are tiresome. There is no poetry in his latest works but less wit. In fact there seems to be a weariness and despair, a sign that the ageing Shaw is aging at last."

There was no young English playwright of today who ruled the stage as Shaw had ruled the stage of yesterday, the professor said. Some of them wrote plays overnight. They spent less time and trouble over them. One of them showed great promise. Ronald McKenzie wrote "Musical Chairs," but he died a short time later in an automobile accident.

ACTING

The stage lived in England not because of ideas but because of the superb acting from the star to the one-line extra. Keith Winter's "Shining Hour" was a "putrid" story, about as unreal as one could imagine and yet it had run for the last year in England because of the wonderful acting of Raymond Massey, Gladys Cooper and Adrienne Allen.

Ivor Novello was an entertainer rather than a dramatist, Professor Wood said. He felt that "The Green Bay Tree," by Morden Ship, was one of the finest of the modern English plays. It depicted the abnormal relationship between an old and a young man and yet was not offensive in one line.

The professor spoke of the two women playwrights, Agnes McKenize who liked to hide under the name of Gordon Daviot and whose best was "Richard of Bordeaux" and Dottie Smith who called herself G. L. Anthony and who had produced such sticky sweet pieces as "Autumn Circus."

These young people were interested in psychological characterization and were all more or less disciples of Chekhov. They paid little attention to social conditions, and in this they lacked perspective on life.

Professor Wood then turned to the four English playwrights whom he said "had arrived."

John Van Druten, who was a young man of thirty-five, had started his life as a lawyer but had turned to the stage. His first play was "Young Woodley." "The Distaff Side" now running in London was an excellent analysis of character. Mr. Van Druten failed to write a play with a punch but he did get a semblance of real life into his characters.

NOEL COWARD

Noel Coward was a prolific writer, but in one play he has shown genius. It was "Post Mortem," a play which would never be produced, which had been written more or less as a gesture to himself, but which showed that Coward was capable of serious thought.

James Bridie had no idea of the construction of a play though some of his scenes were powerful. His "Sleeping Clergyman" was one of the most praised British plays. It covered a period from 1867 to 1936, took eleven scenes and was intended to be a lesson in hereditary, but was far too long.

Sean O'Casey, in the lecturer's opinion, was the greatest of the London playwrights, and his "Within the Gates" was one of the most important modern plays produced. It was banned by Boston and Toronto, but had created a sensation in other "wicked" cities on this continent.

The scene of the play was laid in Hyde Park and it typified the flow and drift of life through the park during the four seasons of the year. There were choruses and a dreamer who appeared in every scene.

Professor Wood felt that the banning of the play was due to the fact that it was misunderstood. It was not against God but the Church. In this play, O'Casey had said himself that the idea was to bring back the music, song and dance of the Elizabethan play, together with the austere ritual of the Greek plays.

J. L. Watson, president of the society, was in the chair.

TELLS VALUE OF EYESIGHT

Eyes That See Well May Cause Heavy Strain, Says Joseph Rose

"It is your solemn obligation to guard well your eyes. You only get one pair of eyes in a lifetime, and how long they last depends on the care they receive. If they are defective you will fall short of your full measure of happiness and success," Joseph Rose, optometrist, told the Gyo Club at its luncheon to-day.

It was through the eyes that men obtained their education, their livelihood and the great part of their pleasures.

It was perfectly possible for the eyes, while seeing properly, to absorb sufficient nervous energy to put the whole body out of balance.

NERVOUS EXHAUSTION

All organs of the body, said Mr. Rose, absorbed nervous energy while they worked. This nervous energy was stored up during sleep, and if it was used more quickly than it was stored up, nervous exhaustion was inevitable.

Normal eyes used 10 per cent of all the nervous energy. Abnormal eyes could employ 30 per cent or more.

There were five chief causes of nervous exhaustion, all leading to disease. They were over-eating, under-drinking, mental worry and overwork, excesses, and eye strain. The last was not the least.

EXPLAINS MECHANISM

Mr. Rose explained the mechanism of the eye, showing how minute variations in the shape of the eye could put it out of focus, and how nervous energy had to be expended to compensate this fault.

He showed, with the help of a diagram, how an eyeball too short, led to long-sightedness, and one too long to short-sightedness, and how convex and concave lenses could correct these two faults.

He also described the great battery of instruments with which the optometrist could find out defects in the human eye, measure its curvature to a 100,000th part of an inch, and prescribe the correct lens to correct the malformation.

MANY PEOPLE COLORBLIND

Some of the interesting facts mentioned by Mr. Rose in his address were:

That 20 per cent of the people in Victoria cannot tell the red light from the green on the traffic signals.

That out of 25,000,000 young people in the schools of the continent, over 5,000,000 would never receive their full education because of eye strain.

That the image of the entire Parliament Buildings covered only one twentieth of an inch on the optic nerve.

That sight was not continuous, but the eye took separate glances or looks at the rate of 100 per minute.

That many people's eyes were not balanced muscularly, and turned in quite different directions when they were asleep.

That a large proportion of people had "double vision" and could see nothing to either side of the point on which their sight was focused, a fact that led to many automobile accidents.

That difference between broad daylight and an artificially lighted room was in the ratio of 10,000 candlepower to twenty.

Mr. Rose was introduced by Angus McIntyre.

The drive will start with a breakfast meeting Friday morning at 8:30 o'clock and after making plans at the breakfast meeting the workers will spend the rest of the day canvassing the business men of the town who are not now members of the chamber.

F. M. McGregor pointed out the membership had dropped since its peak in 1929 and the record of the chamber justified a bigger membership. The chamber had done a lot of good for the city and if workers approached men in business and emphasized this fact he felt there would be no difficulty in securing more than the seventy-five set as the objective.

It would be to the advantage of Victoria to have a representative chamber, with all the business men of Victoria working and pulling together.

The City Council yesterday evening referred to the finance committee the question of sponsoring the opening night in the Gyo Club's annual radio campaign for Christmas hampers for the needy. The campaign will start on December 9 and extend for ten nights.

CAPT. POCOCK VISITOR HERE

Veteran of Riel Rebellion and Well-known Adventurer Arrives From Orient

Seventy years of age, but still a boy as far as his love for adventure goes, Capt. Roger Pocock, a veteran of the second Riel Rebellion and founder of the Legion of Frontiersmen of Greenland, came to Victoria yesterday from the Orient, arriving here by the St. Empress of Russia.

He proceeded with the ship to Vancouver and will go to London to spend the winter with his sister, Lady Simon. Next spring, he says, he will probably start out on another jaunt to some distant part of the world.

Capt. Pocock knows Canada well and one of his well-known books is "Jesse of Cariboo." He was a member of Canada's famous Mounted Police squad when serving in the Riel Rebellion. He was badly frozen at that time and was pensioned from the service. But he would not retire and went as a missionary to New Caledonia. Later he was a seaman with the Yokohama pirates and had experienced galore in all sorts of other unconventional undertakings.

Back in 1899 Capt. Pocock rode along the Rocky Mountains from Canada to Mexico City and in 1901 he was a scout in the South African Field Force. In 1914 he enlisted with the Royal Navy, having been educated in his younger days on the Wellfleet training ship. After the war he was a member of the Oxford expedition to Spitzbergen.

Some of Capt. Pocock's widely read publications are "A Frontiersman," "Curly," "The Splendid Blackguard," and some of his plays and adaptations are "The Celluloid Cat" and "Crime and Punishment."

RELIEF SCALE UNDER DEBATE

The question of raising relief scales was once again before the Equimult Council at its meeting last night, and the decision was that the municipality was not in a financial position to give any increase.

The question arose out of a motion by Councillor F. G. C. Wood, seconded by Councillor T. Harry Hodgson, that the relief scale in the municipality be raised to the level in effect in the city of Victoria.

The motion was defeated after lengthy debating, the remainder of the council voting contrary.

Councillor Eaton said that he was convinced the existing scale was not sufficient to keep people alive.

EXTRA TAXATION

Councillor Albert Heald, chairman of the finance committee, stated that relief could not be raised without additional taxation. He referred to the statements by Mayor David Laidlaw that the provincial government might shortly discontinue relief grants, action which would make the municipality's position ever more serious.

"There are people in Equimult being taxed whose circumstances are already as bad or worse than those of people on relief," said Councillor Heald.

He added that the relief scale had already been raised once this year by the statements by Mayor David Laidlaw that the provincial government might shortly discontinue relief grants, action which would make the municipality's position ever more serious.

Councillor Eaton took the stand that it was the duty of the municipality to pay a fair scale to relief workers as to civic and other employees.

RECEIVERSHIP

"If the taxpayers are overburdened, the remedy is with them, in a tax strike, and eventually a receivership," the matter must be forced through to the Dominion Government," he said.

Councillor T. Harry Hodgson suggested that the councillors turn in their indemnity cheques for the next three months, to form a relief fund, raising thus some $250. No action was taken on this suggestion.

Massey Soon At London Post

Toronto, Nov. 5. — Hon. Vincent Massey, Canada's new High Commissioner to the United Kingdom, will sail for London from Quebec November 7.

Mr. Massey made known his plans for his departure yesterday evening, just after he had returned from attending the official swearing in ceremony of the new Governor-General, Lord Tweedsmuir, at Quebec.

It was while he was en route to that ceremony on board Premier King's train that Mr. Massey took the oath of office.

Mr. Massey, who succeeds Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, former Premier of Ontario, announced he would take with him as private secretary J. Ross McLaren, former secretary of the Association of Canadian Clubs. Mr. Massey's younger son, Hart, will accompany him. An elder son, Lionel, is now abroad studying at Oxford University.

When Mr. Massey takes up his post at Canada House in London he will complete a journey he began five years ago. He was appointed High Commissioner in London by the former Liberal government in 1930, but the general election and the return of a Conservative Government took place before he was scheduled to leave Canada, and he tendered his resignation.

Prior to 1930, Mr. Massey was Canadian minister to the United States, the first man to hold that post.

By THOMAS T. CHAMPION
Canadian Press Staff Writer
London, Nov. 5.—Plans are afoot here for a presentation to Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner since 1930, it is announced by an organizing committee.

Mr. Ferguson resigned recently on the defeat of the Bennett government in Canada, but intimated he would not be leaving London immediately. The committee said contributions for the presentation would be limited to $5. Among members of the committee are Sir George Badgerow, vice-president of the British Medical Association; Sir George McLaren Brown, Sir Edward Peacock and Sir Campbell Stuart.

Better Air Mail Service Desired

Consideration will be given by the Victoria Chamber of Commerce to providing Victoria with a better air mail link, it was decided at a meeting of the directors held yesterday afternoon.

The subject came before the meeting through a letter from the Canadian Legion, which pointed out that as long as the present air mail service had no air link to Vancouver, air mail offered no advantages. For service to eastern Canada it was virtually useless.

The matter was referred to a committee headed by R. H. B. Ker.

On receipt of a letter from Miss M. Clay, librarian, the Victoria Chamber of Commerce at a meeting of directors yesterday, decided to co-operate in commemorating the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Andrew Carnegie on November 25, at which time emphasis will be laid on his gifts and endowments.

Lease of one of the buildings at the Willows to the Victoria Badminton Society was authorized by the City Council on the recommendation of Alderman T. W. C. Hawkins.

Both Clubs Confident For Big Army Rugby Game On Monday

MIRROR

Scottish Team

Is Rated Best

In Many Years

Fifth Brigade Ready to Defend Laurels; Colorful Features Arranged

Line-ups Are Released To-day

Satisfied his 1935 machine is one of the best the Canadian Scottish Rugby Club has boasted since 1931, when the kilties beat the Gunners in the initial game of their annual Remembrance Day classic, Bob Travis looks to his proteges to give the Fifth Brigade a keen battle for the Fordham Johnson Cup next Monday.

The game will be staged in its traditional color, with bands, uniformed militia units and civic and provincial dignitaries in attendance.

The fixture will be played at MacDonald Park, where supporters of the different militia groups are expected to provide one of the biggest crowds which has yet passed through the gates.

GUNNERS OPTIMISTIC

While Scottish hopes ran high, and the Fifth Brigade was threatened to some extent by injuries which have not yet healed from the Gunners last game, the artillerymen were far from despondent over their chances. They have enjoyed two good games, while the Scots have played only one. And their second during the last three years in the annual Army classic is such that the Gunners should enjoy the edge in the betting.

The Highlanders have won one of the four games played. One was drawn and the other two have been taken by the Fifth.

Neither coach was prepared to give a definite line-up for the fray, but both mentioned sufficient men to provide strong arguments.

SCOTTISH PROBABLES

For the Sons of the Thistle, Ted Googate will play fullback, with Isouie Anderson, Campbell Forrester, C. Appleton and Mac Billingsley operating on the three-quarter line. Don Stewart will probably play five-eighths with Alec Anderson right behind him.

For the pack, Travis has listed such men as John Rockingham, Harry Peard, "Wild Willie" Campbell, Ian Acland, Bill Thompson, Tony Fields, Jack Bankes, Doull, Sam Gardiner, Carney and Knight.

The actual make-up of the squad will not be set until after several practices this week.

GUNNERS LINE-UP

Bobby McInnes is listed for fullback duty for the Gunners, with Chuck Copeland, Paul Howe and Ken Fleming certain members of the three-quarter line. Johnny Beck may be out of the game with injuries, and may be replaced by Dick Surphill, who was once regarded as one of the fastest sprinters in the city.

With Bill Halkett, regular stand-off half also on the crotch list, Jackie Ferguson may be given the call for stand-off half duties, while Wally Stipe will operate as usual behind the scrum.

Frank Johnson, Dan Dowell, Harry Eastham, Bob Blair, Bert Simpson, Ed. de Blaquiere and Bob Englesea are expected to start in the scrum. Fleming, Stewart, Doug Feden and Roy Gommason, peak regulars, are all reported to be suffering from bumps which may keep them on the sidelines.

FIFTH FAVORED

The Gunners should, nevertheless, enter the battle favorites for victory. They have shown consistently better combination play than the kilties during the last three or four seasons, and despite injuries will probably have a decided edge in speed over their rivals.

On the other hand, the Scottish, while far from a championship team during the recent years will keep the Brigade moving in the Remembrance Day game.

With both teams confident, it should be a very fair fixture, made all the more attractive by the added spectacular features of the soldiers in their Sunday best.

Oakland, Calif., Nov. 5.—A. Mills, College official, said yesterday that Miss Helen Mayfield, German-Jewish fencing star, has been offered full German citizenship rights as a condition for her participation in the 1936 Olympic Games at Berlin.

German Olympic officials were quoted as saying Miss Mayfield, a language instructor at the college, had agreed to participate without any conditions.

"But the opposition is going to be stronger this season, with St. Louis out of there," Smythe went on. "Last year we went into Montreal and won four games, and the fact that our opponents just had time to step on the ice a few hours after getting back from that long trip from St. Louis helped a lot. This year it is going to be tougher."

In their forty-eight games last year, Leafs won thirty and tied four. They lost fourteen, but still finished five and a half games ahead of Montreal Maroons in the Canadian section. Maroons defeated the Leafs three straight in the Stanley Cup series.

The following editorial carried in the October issue of Pacific Coast Golfer should prove interesting to the followers of this popular sport:

"We have often wondered as we read the newspapers just what those responsible for staging club competitions are trying to do and if they are trying to make a job out of all handicap systems. Results of golf competitions often show that the winners have net scores in the very low 80s and sometimes in the 60s, and the event had taken place over a course of championship length, with a par of 71 or more.

"Four-ball-best-ball events on handicaps, and other such similarly ridiculous affairs only go to show that the committee-in-charge is not only doing its work in a farcical manner but getting nowhere in determining what handicap rating should be given each and every member of the club.

"To our way of reasoning, there is enough variety for club members in scheduling par and bogey match play competitions, handicap medal play events, mixed foursomes and the regular club championship and trophy tournaments, without having a number of "freakish" innovations injected into the season's schedule of events.

"The men's fast-track prizes are won with net scores of from fifteen to twenty under the par of the course surely should be proof positive that such an event should be, henceforth, tabooed.

"We have repeatedly listened to officers of golf clubs praise their course and they ought to, too, during major championships and not once but many times, have we listened to this remark, 'I bet you that par will not be broken during this tournament.' Figure that one out. They keep their fingers crossed in the hope that par will stand up—and maybe the following week the newspapers will carry a report showing that Mr. Par received a most awful trimming in one of those 'par-has-not-got-a-chance' so-called competitions over the very same course. The official defining the par of the course to better perfect figures just a few days before!"

Five men have just completed a race from Schlusburg, in the province of Leningrad, to Moscow, a distance of 475 miles, in just over nine days. The participants ran and walked, taking ten minutes' rest after every six miles. They covered an average of fifty miles a day. During the race they lost in weight from five pounds to sixteen and a half pounds each.

American League Gets New Umpires

Chicago, Nov. 5.—Two new umpires, Cal Hubbard, who plays a lot of tackle for the Green Bay Packers during the football season, and Charles E. Johnston, were signed by the American League yesterday, and Charles Donnelly was released from the staff. President Will Harridge announced.

Hubbard, a 240-pounder, served in the International League during the last three seasons, and previously worked in the Piedmont, South Atlantic and Western Leagues.

Johnston spent five years in the Western League and for the last seven seasons was a member of the American Association staff.

MANY STREETS OF MEXICO CITY HAVE A DIFFERENT NAME EVERY BLOCK!

RATTLESNAKES DO NOT ALWAYS BATTLE BEFORE STRIKING—AND THE NUMBER OF BATTLES IS NOT A SURE SIGN OF AGE.

FLORIDA HAS BEEN UNDER THE FLAGS OF 10 DIFFERENT NATIONS.

Florida has been under the flags of Spain, France, England, West Florida Republic, East Florida Republic, Venezuela, Argentina, Mexico, United States and Confederate States. It fell first into the hands of the Spanish by right of colonization. In 1763 England took Florida in a trade with Spain. In 1810 and 1811 Florida established for herself independent government in the form of the Republic of West Florida and the Republic of East Florida. The former joined with Louisiana as French territory. The Republic of East Florida, after three years of independence, ceded its rights and holdings to the United States.

The sixth and seventh flags to fly over Florida were those of Venezuela and Argentina. In 1817 a soldier of fortune, named McGregor, took over Amelia Island, fortified and claimed it for himself under the pretext of having the support of Venezuela and Argentina. These nations disclaimed him, but McGregor shifted his allegiance to Mexico and flew the flag of the nation over his "kingdom." United States troops drove him out in 1817. Florida passed into the hands of the United States by purchase in 1821. In 1861 it seceded from the United States, claimed status as an independent nation, then joined the Confederate States.

In Mexico City, following an old Spanish custom, some streets have a different name every block. In downtown sections, almost every street's name changes every three or four blocks. One street, running east and west, has eight different names, and another has fourteen names in nine blocks. Efforts of the government to revise street names on an orderly basis have met with popular disapproval.

TEN-POINT DEER TURNS OUT DOE

Santa Fe, N.M., Nov. 5.—New Mexico's game department warned hunters: "If he hasn't got horns, she isn't a buck."

Came Forrest H. York, of Derry, N.H., saying he had shot a deer with a set of ten-point horns—but it was a doe not a buck. He wanted to know what to do about the kill. The game department was at a loss.

NOTRE DAME IS CRIPPLED

Face Northwestern Saturday With Three Leading Grid Stars Injured

Associated Press

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 5.—As a tide of congratulatory messages all but flooded coach Elmer Layden, Notre Dame, to-day counted up the cost of its thrilling football triumph over Ohio state, and found it high enough to cause considerable worry over Northwestern's invasion Saturday.

Three of the most valuable players appeared to be definitely lost for the invasion of the Wildcats.

Andy Pilney, spearhead of the story book victory over the "Scarlet Sox" and Fred Caridek, smashing fullback, were definitely out. Coach Layden expected that, but to-day he was informed that Dick Pfeiffer, the team's only experienced tackle, probably would be missing from the line-up for at least a week. Pfeiffer suffered a leg injury.

"Pfeiffer's injury, unexpected as it was, rather floors me," said coach Layden. "I am wondering how we can get by a great Northwestern team. I'm hoping for the best, but I'm worried."

NAME REP SELECTORS

Bob Travis, Bob McInnes and J. B. Acland to Pick McKechnie Cup Team

Bob Travis, Canadian Scottish; Bob McInnes, Bays-Wanderers, and J. B. Acland, president of the local referees' board were named members of the local rep team selection committee by the Victoria Rugby Union at its meeting yesterday evening.

It was understood Ernie Butterworth, coach of several of the city's successful squads, would be asked to handle the team again this year, although no coaching appointment was made.

TO REPLAY GAME

During the meeting the union ruled the incomplete fixture between the Navy and the Garrison at the Naval Recreation grounds on Saturday no-contest, and ordered a replay of the game. Their action upheld Aubrey Walls, referee of the encounter, who called the game when he thought too much bickering had broken out among the players. Representatives of the Navy and Garrison explained it was all good fun and the teams were on the best of terms.

The union accepted the suggestion H. J. Ketchen, to permit school children to see games free of charge in an effort to stimulate interest in the pastime. Bob McInnes gave a report of the missionary work being carried on in the schools.

SATURDAY'S GAMES

Four games were set for Saturday. In the senior B game at the Naval Recreation grounds, and the Wanderers Blues will play Victoria College Intermediates at Victoria High School pitch.

MANY DEER WEIGHED IN

Competition Keen For Sylvester U Drive Awards; Up-island Hunters Lead

With over twice as many deer weighed in to date as were entered during the entire season last year, the second annual competition of the Sylvester U Drive "Lime" for the largest buck deer shot on Vancouver Island is proving an outstanding success. Bill Sylvester, manager of the sponsoring firm, stated to-day he was more than pleased with the manner in which the hunters have responded and expects to have a great many more kills weighed in before the season closes on December 15.

Any hunter killing a deer, regardless of weight, has a chance to win a prize now as Sylvester recently announced a consolation award. This prize will be drawn for among those who do not win one of the first, second or third awards.

To the winner goes the handsome Sylvester U Drive Limited Perpetual Challenge Trophy and a miniature.

CURLING RINK SITE PROPOSED

Ice Company With Surplus Refrigeration Makes Suggestion

Before a site is selected for the proposed curling rink in Victoria, B. Wilson and Company ask that consideration should be given to the property next to their ice plant.

A letter to this effect was received by directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce at a meeting yesterday afternoon.

The ice company pointed out that in the winter time it had a surplus of refrigeration, and they believed the location of the rink would be suitable at the point suggested.

W. T. Strath, president of the chamber, reported on the consideration given to the B.C. Worsted Mill as a possible site and reported another meeting would be held next Thursday at 7.30 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce when reports of a committee headed by Duncan MacBride would be received.

It was decided to give consideration to the letter at that meeting. Mr. Strath added that considerable interest had been shown in the proposal to establish a curling rink. All interested were invited to attend the next meeting.

MISS NEWNHAM AND MISS TALBOT FIRST

Miss L. Newnham and Miss A. Talbot won the women's annual knock-out foursomes and become the possessors of the Wenger Trophy as the result of their victory over Miss Peggy Alderson and Miss A. Field at the George Vale Golf Club over the week-end.

As the year draws to a close competition is growing keen for the handsome prize donated by Mrs. Angus Campbell to the player who lowers her handicap the most during the year. This contest will close on December 31 and a number of the players are well in the running.

Victoria High B Soccer Team Wins

The Victoria High B eleven defeated the Victoria High A eleven 5 to 0 in a fixture of the inter-high school soccer league on the Fernwood grounds yesterday afternoon. Smith, H. Rowe and Wilson scored the goals.

The A team will play Mount View High School to-morrow.

Lindrum Performs Well at Calgary

Calgary, Nov. 5.—Walter Lindrum, Australian who holds the world championship for English billiards, went 1,400 points ahead of his opponent, Clark McConachy, New Zealand when the pair continued their transcanada match here yesterday evening.

With a high break of 314, Lindrum made 1,670 points to bring his match total to 6,257 compared with 4,837 for McConachy who got 919 yesterday.

Hudson's Bay to Oppose Navy at Athletic Park in Feature To-morrow

Hudson's Bay soccer eleven, who last week gained top place in the race for the Hayward Cup, symbolic of the Wednesday Football League championship, when they defeated their rivals the James Bay Wanderers, will stack up against the Navy aggregation to-morrow afternoon at the Athletic Park. Two other league matches will be played and all kick-offs are scheduled for 2.30 o'clock.

James Bay Wanderers, holding down the second berth, will oppose the fifth place Kresges at Beacon Hill Park, while Spencers, who are now holding down the fourth position in the standing, will battle Saanich United, cellar squad, at Heywood Avenue grounds.

Kresges team will be chosen from the following players: McMillan, Jack, McLellan, T. White, D. White, A. McBride, M. McBride, Hall, McKennie, Coates, Duncan, Hill, Linesman is Bennell.

Saanich United—O'Connor, E. Bailey, Travers, Bowler, Moir, Bailey, Brown, Emery, Smith, Newell, Constable and Sparks.

COAST LEAGUE HEAD RETIRES

San Francisco, Nov. 5.—Three men were reported in the race for the Pacific Coast league presidency to-day after Hyland Baggerly, office holder since 1931, announced his resignation yesterday evening saying he planned taking a rest.

Those mentioned were Frank Herman, present league secretary; Charley Tye, active in Oakland semi-pro circles, and Harry Williams, Los Angeles newspaperman who preceded Baggerly as Pacific Coast league prey.

Decisions on the matter probably will be reached in Los Angeles November 14, when the league holds its annual meeting. Baggerly said he would continue his duties until his successor was named.

While his statement to the Associated Press made no mention of poor health, his associates indicated that the veteran former newspaperman had been ailing for some time. Baggerly said he planned a tour of South America early next year.

His election in 1931 came as a surprise to the widely liked man. He was named for three years and last year was given another term of twelve months. Opposition had sprung up but he paid little attention to it. He had asked to be relieved of his office at the expiration of his first term, but was prevailed on to remain another season.

Surprise and disappointment were voiced by some representatives of Coast league clubs when informed of Baggerly's retirement.

ICE SCHEDULE IS LENGTHY

International Hockey League Clubs Play 192 Games; Opens Thursday

Windsor, Ont., Nov. 5.—Back to its pre-depression strength of eight clubs and with a new president, John Digby Chalk, directing operations, the International Hockey League will embark upon a 192-game schedule, heaviest in history, this week.

PROMOTER TOMMY DRYSDALE COMPLETES ARRANGEMENTS TO HAVE WORLD HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPION APPEAR AT ARMORIES ON THURSDAY NIGHT; WILL BOX FOUR ROUNDS AND REFEREE OTHER BOUT; SPLENDID SUPPORTING CARD; TICKETS GO ON SALE

James J. Braddock, colorful heavyweight boxing champion of the world, will box at the Bay Street Armories on Thursday evening. This was the announcement made this morning by Tommy Drysdale, Victoria's latest fight impresario, who stated he had completed arrangements to bring the conqueror of Max Baer to Victoria for an exhibition.

Braddock, accompanied by his manager and several other retainers, will arrive here Thursday morning from Vancouver in a chartered airplane. He is scheduled to appear in the Mainland city to-morrow evening, following his performance in Seattle to-night. The plane will be held over here and Braddock and his handlers will fly to Seattle on Friday so as to enable the heavyweight champion to make a scheduling appearance in Eugene, Ore., on Friday night.

Drysdale, a young fellow who is trying hard to bring the boxing game back in this city, put over the deal with Braddock's bosses this morning. The local promoter had to provide the transportation money for the champion and his party, to come by airplane and then guarantee the champion the first $600 to come through the gate.

FIGHT FOUR ROUNDS

Braddock will box four rounds with one of the members of his stable traveling with him. In Seattle to-night he will go up against Jack McCarthy, well-known Boston heavyweight. It is quite possible he will meet the same opponent here. In addition the champion will referee one of the other bouts on the card.

Drysdale is lining up a first class supporting card and those who attend will witness some fine battling in addition to seeing the heavyweight champion in action. Rex Carey, Bobby Parker, Rudy Holstein, Victoria's three leading fighters at the present time, and George Love, Chinese wrestling star, will all be matched against Vancouver opposition. Six bouts, four boxing and two wrestling, will be offered in addition to the main attraction.

Signs Favorable For Salmon Pact

Fishery Experts Here Say Outlook Bright For Ratification of Fraser River Treaty; Hull's View Helps

The outlook for ratification of the Fraser River Sockeye Salmon Treaty by the United States Senate and, consequently, a start on rehabilitation of the Fraser River fishery has never been better than at the present time, according to observers here.

Following the announcement yesterday that United States Secretary of State, Cordell Hull, had approved the treaty in its present form, experts here to-day explained that two minor objections from the United States had been cleared away.

RAISED AT CONFERENCE

These points were raised earlier in the year at an international conference in Seattle. Fisheries experts there claimed that the proposal to divide the fishery on a fifty-fifty basis between British Columbia and Washington fishermen was unfair because the United States fishermen were now taking about three-quarters of the catch and their limit would be reduced. They also said that the treaty suggestion that if United States fishermen caught more than their half share the Canadians would expect a cash settlement.

Counter argument to this was that if the fishery was rehabilitated, the half share for either side would be much greater than their present catch. The cash settlement was not indicated, it was stated.

Secretary Hull's assurance was taken to mean that these objections are not sustained by the United States administration.

As far as is known here, the only obstacles in the way of the United States Senate now ratifying the agreement are the two senators from Washington State. As a matter of senatorial courtesy their approval is necessary. It is understood that one of them has now indicated he will support the measure and the other is expected to follow suit.

ABOLITION OF TRAPS

Another favorable factor is the abolition of salmon traps in Puget Sound waters. Seiners had opposed the treaty because they claimed it was preferential to the trap operators. This point of opposition has been removed.

The treaty provides for regulation of the entire Fraser River fishery on a basis which, as near as practicable, will give nations of each country an equal share of the catch. The underlying basis is to rehabilitate the fishery which has been badly depleted in the last thirty years.

Five years ago Canada ratified the treaty which was the third of its kind approved by this country. The United States has yet to approve any form of agreement.

Vancouver Police Chief Is Visitor

Colonel W. W. Foster, chief of Vancouver police, was in Victoria yesterday and during his brief stay he visited Chief Thomas Healey at police headquarters.

The Vancouver chief was taken on a tour of inspection of the local headquarters by Chief Healey and C. L. Harrison, prosecutor, and displayed considerable interest in the revolver reloading apparatus operated by the local force. Col. Foster was impressed with the cheapness with which the local department is able to produce ammunition and, though the plan is splendid one for maintenance of marksmanship on the city force.

Another feature which attracted the colonel's attention was the use of helmets by Victoria men. While he appeared favorably disposed towards them he did not think they would prove popular in Vancouver.

Sacrifice Crosses On Memorial Avenue

Victoria Architect Advances Proposal to Establish Appropriate Mark at Either End

Suggestions for placing a permanent memorial in the shape of a cross of sacrifice illuminated by a Neon sign, at each end of Memorial Avenue, have been presented by Major K. B. Spurgin, who has offered to supervise the construction without charge.

Mr. Spurgin believes a ceremony on Armistice Day, at which a soldier's pack would be used to receive contributions, would result in enough revenue being received to cover the cost of the proposed crosses and their upkeep permanently. The installation of the crosses would not be a great task and could be placed in position for Armistice Day of this year, he points out.

"Some time ago," Major Spurgin says, "a suggestion was made to place a stone cross at each end of the long-suffering and much-neglected avenue connecting Victoria and Saanich. The whole place has a lost and neglected look, and many suggestions have been made as to what should be done to make it a memorial avenue fit for heroes. I would like to add another idea to that list."

"Instead of an arch at either end place a rough-hewn cross of sacrifice on a solid stone and cement base, a replica of the French cross as found on the French gasolines and so well known to the men who marched past by the thousands and turned their weary eyes to that cross and knew all it meant. Put a little 'pave' around the base to remind one of those stoney roads the troops trod over in the French streets."

"On the eleventh of this month place a guard of soldiers and soldiers at each cross. Have a bugler sound reveille and last post, a pastor tell what it all means. Ask the Saanich residents to assemble at one end and the Victoria residents at the other."

"Place a soldier's pack at the foot of each cross to receive the donations from the public for the upkeep of the Soldiers' Memorial Avenue. Make it an annual affair."

Major Spurgin estimates the total cost, including the Neon light, would be within $300.

BAKER CASE GOES TO JURY

Addresses Last All Morning; Murder Trial Probably To-morrow

The case against William Baker, charged with robbery with violence on two elderly women at their home on Sims Avenue, Saanich, was handed to the jury at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

Mr. Justice Robertson ordered the jury segregated and locked up until such a verdict. Before getting down to considering the case, Sheriff Goggin had the jurors under a Provincial Police escort taken out for luncheon. The assize hearings continued this afternoon with the case against George Bernard, charged with possession of stolen goods in connection with the robbery at the home of D. O. Cameron. Carwin Martin is prosecuting with the prisoner conducting his own defence.

Start of the trial of John Pinco, charged with the murder of Clarence Pappas, restaurateur, on May 1, is expected to get under way some time Wednesday.

ADDRESSES ALL MORNING The whole of the morning session to-day of the Assize Court was taken up with the addresses of the two lawyers and the summing up of the judge in the Baker case.

R. A. Wootton, defence counsel, argued that the evidence of the elderly Mrs. Scott could not be relied upon, especially as it was uncorroborated, with respect to the identification of Baker. He said that Sgt. Cummings of the Saanich Police had admitted that the police did not wear out a warrant for Baker's arrest until four days after the crime, and that the police had not obtained from Mrs. Scott, but from other sources, the information implicating Baker.

Mr. Wootton challenged the prosecution's charge that Baker had been spending money lavishly up to the island, as on the prosecution's own evidence Baker had spent only $2.50 for beer and $4 for a taxi.

Prosecutor Martin summed up the evidence against Baker and asked the jurors for a conviction.

MUST BE BEYOND DOUBT Mr. Justice Robertson read to the jury all his own notes on the evidence. He said that although Mrs. Isabelle Ramsey, Mrs. Scott's sister from Calgary, had been so roughly handled that her jaw was broken in four places and she had to spend three weeks in hospital, she could not say who the man was who grabbed her.

"What is there to show that the accused attacked Isabelle Ramsey?" the justice went on. "She had been asleep during the attack on Mrs. Scott. You have got to be satisfied beyond a reasonable doubt that the accused was the man."

The justice directed the jury's attention to the defences raised by the accused. As to his alibi, Mrs. Ramsey had been unable to identify him, but on the other hand there was no evidence to confirm his statements covering his movements on April 24.

"The identification depends on the evidence of Mrs. Scott alone," the justice went on. "Mrs. Scott said she knew this man before, and that she saw him when she opened the door to him in the next morning when she saw the Smiths, her neighbors, no mention was made of the boy's name. And then she never told the police. You must decide whether you would be justified in convicting this man on the unsupported evidence of Mrs. Scott. Baker has not enjoyed a very savory reputation, and probably had a guilty mind when he was arrested and gave an assumed name. You must put sympathy and sentiment away. These old ladies were shamelessly treated, but don't allow that to sway your judgment."

OFFERS ALIBI Baker, on the stand, pleaded an alibi on the ground that he was not anywhere near the Scott home on April 24, the day of the crime. He said that on April 23 he had gone around cafes and show houses, where he had casually seen some persons going to Nanaimo. He made a deal with them to take him in return for his share of the expenses.

Cross-examined by Prosecutor Martin, Baker said the party started for Nanaimo at 8:30 p.m., reached Nanaimo at 1:30 a.m. He said that he and his sister's place at South Westhead. He said he paid $2.50 for his passage and had $47 in cash on him. His fear the police were after him because of a liquor charge of years ago had led him to give the assumed name of Joe Anderson when arrested in Penitention.

Mrs. W. Baker, his mother, said that her son left home on October 15, 1934, and had been home only three days since, including April 23.

Walt Lee testified that Baker had worked for him at his greenhouse for six months before the crime, had been a good worker, earned about $18 a week and quit on April 2.

Temperatures Rise Slowly

Definite Break in Early Cold Wave Is Seen All Over the Pacific Northwest

Victoria was to-day slowly but surely coming out of the unprecedented cold wave for so early in the season. The minimum temperature this morning, according to the standard screen on Gonzales Hill, was thirty-seven degrees.

It was colder on the ground and in low-lying levels several degrees of frost were reported. Again roofs and fences and wooden sidewalks were white-tinted this morning.

At noon the temperature had risen to forty-seven degrees, and there was every possibility the thermometer would rise to fifty degrees later in the afternoon, where the temperatures are hovering around the zero mark.

In Helena, Montana, where hundreds are living out-of-doors because of serious earthquakes, the temperature this morning stood at twenty-eight degrees, making conditions much easier for many people. Last week in Helena the temperature fell well below zero.

There is still no immediate rain in sight for Victoria.

San Francisco, Nov. 5.—A break in the cold spell gripping the Pacific Coast was forecast by the Weather Bureau here to-day as reports of considerable crop damage in California were received.

Although thermometer readings still were low, the forecast was for slowly rising temperatures throughout the coastal region.

Freezing weather has caused extensive damage to vegetables and fruit crops in this state. E. E. Kaufman, chief of the federal-state crop reporting service, said.

The Grape crop in Tulare County suffered considerably, and tomatoes in most localities were damaged. Kaufman said half the pea crop was destroyed. An estimate said the season's raisin tonnage would be considerably less than last year.

California temperatures included: Colton 20, Independence 30, Salinas 31, Riverside 32, Santa Barbara 36, Sacramento, Fresno and Eureka 30, Imperial 39, San Diego 44, Corona 49 and Los Angeles 51.

Three Youths Shot at Tofino

Charge May Follow After Halloween Prank in Which Boys Injured

Reported to have been the re- sult of a Halloween prank, three youths were shot, but not seriously wounded, at Tofino last Thursday night, about 11 o'clock, according to provincial police radio advice received to-day.

The injured are Joseph McLeod, Murdo MacLeod and Norman Arnet. Only meagre details of the affray were received, and long distance calls to Tofino failed to disclose further details of the affray.

The youths were not seriously hurt. They were reported ranging between sixteen and eighteen years of age.

DRIVE TO GET DUTY LIFTED

Firms Ready to Take Movies Here When Restrictions Removed

If the duty on equipment for taking moving pictures can be lifted, one company will have its apparatus here in ten days. Many bona fide companies are interested and will come if the drive to remove the prohibitive tariff is removed, W. T. Strath, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, told directors at a meeting yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Strath emphasized the tariff providing no protection for any Canadian company as the equipment was not made in Canada.

The subject was brought before the meeting through a letter from Herbert Lash of the C.N.R. publicity in New York, advising steps be made to urge upon Ottawa the necessity of removing the duty.

"In the last few years, I could have sent several moving picture compa- nies to Canada but for these restric- tions," he said. "It was not rebate- able tax, but an imposition. The com- panies would be ready to post bonds on the equipment if the amount would be returned when they took it back to the United States. The duty did not protect anything, as the United States companies would not place their equipment in the hands of any other man other than those trained in their own studies in their own methods. The only thing it might establish and protect was a moving picture monopoly in Canada."

"Two years ago," he said, "I could have sent Paramount Pictures to Victoria but for the duty."

Mr. Strath pointed out the Cham- ber of Commerce was active in its efforts to have the duty removed. Representations had been made at Ottawa and when Prime Minister King was in Victoria, Mr. Strath reported.

Three Youths Shot at Tofino

Charge May Follow After

Hallowe'en Prank in Which

Boys Injured

Reported to have been the result of a Hallowe'en prank, three youths were shot, but not seriously wounded, at Tofino last Thursday night, about 11 o'clock, according to provincial police radio advice received to-day.

The injured are Joseph McLeod, Murdo MacLeod and Norman Arnet. Only meagre details of the affray were received, and long distance calls to Tofino failed to disclose further details of the affray.

The youths were not seriously hurt. They were reported ranging between sixteen and eighteen years of age.

DRIVE TO GET DUTY LIFTED

Firms Ready to Take Movies

Here When Restrictions

Removed

If the duty on equipment for taking moving pictures can be lifted, one company will have its apparatus here in ten days. Many bona fide companies are interested and will come if the drive to remove the prohibitive tariff is removed. W. T. Straith, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, told directors at a meeting yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Straith emphasized the tariff providing no protection for any Canadian company as the equipment was not made in Canada.

The subject was brought before the meeting through a letter from Herbert Lash of the C.N.R. publicity in New York, advising steps be made to urge upon Ottawa the necessity of removing the duty.

"In the last few years, I could have sent several moving picture companies to Canada but for these restrictions," he said. "It was not rebateable tax, but an imposition. The companies would be ready to post bonds on the equipment when they took it back to the United States. The duty did not protect anything, as the United States companies would not place their equipment in the hands of any other men other than those trained in their own studios in their own methods. The only thing it might establish and protect was a moving picture monopoly in Canada."

"Two years ago," he said, "I could have sent Paramount Pictures to Victoria but for the duty."

Mr. Straith pointed out the Chamber of Commerce was active in its efforts to have the duty removed. Representations had been made at Ottawa and when Prime Minister King was in Victoria Senator King interviewed him on the subject and was very favorably received. Hon. MacKenzie had also been written to recently and that day a reply had been received from him stating he would ask that the matter be given immediate consideration.

One company was now in Victoria to take pictures, Mr. Straith reported.

"Don't worry," said Tarzan, "it doesn't last long and you won't funk. There is only a brief period of pain before you lose consciousness. I have seen it many times before. It is as good a way to go as another. We must die sometime."

"What difference whether it is to-night or a year hence—just so that we have lived—and I have lived!" "Your philosophy may be all right, old top," replied the young lieutenant, "but I can't say it is exactly satisfying."

Tarzan laughed, saying: "Turn around, so I can get at your bonds with my teeth." Presently then Jerry felt the things giving slowly beneath Tarzan's strong white teeth. In another moment they would part and then it would be simple for him to remove them.

He would be able to free Tarzan. Just then a guard, entering, saw what the new prisoner was doing, and struck the ape-man a vicious blow with his spear. Calling other guards, they fell upon the luckless man, kicking and beating them unmercifully.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—I am an attractive young girl of fifteen and my mother is continually worrying about me. I am perfectly capable of taking care of myself, but she thinks I am too young to go out, and she particularly objects to my going out in cars with boys, as she says that all fellows park for is to pet. I am ridiculed by my younger girl friends whose mothers are more broad-minded than mine, and think I cannot stand it. I am older than I am and am popular with the boys, but my family are always putting a damper on my innocent joys.

MODERN DAUGHTER.

Answer—If there is anybody on earth who has my earnest and heartfelt sympathy, it is the conscientious mother who is trying to do her duty by a fifteen-year-old daughter in these days when all the devices of conduct seem to have been scrapped. She needs the wisdom of Solomon, the patience of Job, the finesse of a diplomat, the discipline of a drill sergeant, and a sense of humor that will enable her to laugh off instead of making faulty friends out of them, the ability to think and feel as she did when she was a girl, to which must be added second sight and the gift of prophecy, and even with all of these attributes she is likely to find herself routed, horse and dragon, by a little adolescent flapper.

Not long ago I met at a party one of the greatest scientists in the world. He is a man of profound learning, of gigantic intellect. He has made discoveries that have made him famous and for which he had received decorations and degrees from every civilized country, but he backed me into a corner and spent the whole evening asking me what he could do with a little fourteen-year-old daughter who would go riding with boys at night after parties instead of coming home, because all the older girls did it. He had solved the secrets of the universe, but not all his wisdom nor his knowledge gave him any inkling of how to manage a young girl.

The trouble in dealing with adolescent children is that they think that they know everything that is to be known and that their parents are doddering old fools who should be in homes for the senile. They are also utterly self-confident and feel perfectly capable of deciding every question pertaining to themselves, and they resent any suggestion or advice from their elders. Furthermore, they believe that they have to assert their independence and show how grown up they are by defying their parents.

So you are just running true to form, my dear, when you are furious at your mother's efforts to protect you and when you say that you are perfectly capable of taking care of yourself. Believe me, no girl of fifteen is any more capable of doing that than a little lamb is capable of defending itself against a pack of wolves.

You know nothing of life, of the world, nothing of men. You have had no experience to guide you. You have no strength of character with which to fight off temptations. You do not even know how to judge men and tell which are to be trusted and which, as they used to say in melodrama, bode you no good. So how can you protect yourself? How can you save yourself from the dangers that menace a young girl at every step?

And it is to keep you from doing the things through sheer ignorance that may wreck your life in its very beginning, it is to try to keep you from stumbling into some pitfall of whose existence you are ignorant, that you dance down the gay path of youth that your mother is trying to hold your hand a little and save you from a fate that might be worse than death. For what happens to other girls may happen to you.

You have only to read the newspapers every day to see the pitiful tales of little young girls who have killed themselves rather than face disgrace; of child mothers; and of girls who have run away with handsome strangers who sold them into white slavery; of girls who have listened to their undoing to the lies of plausible villains. Yet every one of those girls thought that she was perfectly able to take care of herself.

So don't try to block your mother's efforts to protect you. She isn't unreasonable in her demands, and you know very well yourself that she is right when she says that parking is for the sake of petting, and that the girl who goes in for that is in such danger that her guardian angel must quake with terror for her. And your mother is right when she says that the mothers who allow their girls to run wild are fools. They are more than that. They are fools and traitors to the trust God gave them when he put a baby into their hands.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—Does a widower show regard for his deceased wife by delaying his search for a second wife? I am a man of forty, with two little children. Lost my wife last February. After ten weeks of bewilderment I was deeply attracted to one of my wife's friends, who has always loved my children. I proposed to her and was accepted and we expect to be married before the year ends, but I have received much criticism about my haste in replacing my wife. Is this just?

K.C.M.

Answer—The accepted canon of good taste is that a man shall wait a year before marrying again. It is a little tribute to her memory of a wife that indicates she is not forgotten as soon as she is underground. But it is a matter of individual inclination and, of course, a husband who isn't greatly bereaved has a perfect right to do as he pleases in the matter.

Uncle Wiggly And Goldilocks

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Uncle Wiggly, the rabbit, met Mr. Stubb, the bear, in the woods.

"Hello, Wiggly," greeted the gentleman bear. "He didn't greet because he was cross. When your lollypop nose is stuck in the ground, it's a little different. Growing was the way Mr. Stubb felt. He knew no other way."

"Hello, Stubby," answered Uncle Wiggly, twinkling his pink nose. He didn't twinkle his nose because it was hot, but because it was pink, which is quite different. "How are the Three Bears?" asked the rabbit gentleman. "Individually the Three Bears who tried to get in bed with Baby Binky last night. How did they like it?"

"Pretty well, except they're lonesome," said Mr. Stubb.

"Lonesome?" exclaimed Uncle Wiggly, surprised like and sanitary, for he had cleaned his teeth that morning, as he always did.

"Yes, lonesome," growled Mr. Stubb. "They are lonesome for their little girl friend Goldilocks. You know when the Three Bears and the girl of the story book ran away they didn't take Goldilocks with them and now they're lonesome for her. That's why they're out in the woods looking for her so the Three Bears will be happy."

"Fine and dandy!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggly. "I'll help you look for Goldilocks. You go that way and I'll go this way and we'll see who will find her first."

"Like Red Riding Hood and the Wolf?" laughed Mr. Stubb. "You know that's what the Wolf said to that little girl and we'll see who gets there first? He-he-he!"

"Yes, but please don't speak of the Wolf," said the rabbit. "I don't like that Bad Chap."

"Neither do I," growled Mr. Stubb. "But hop along! Look for Goldilocks and I'll do the same. If you find the little girl with the golden hair take her to my den so she can make the Three Bears happy."

"I'll do that," said Uncle Wiggly, and away he hopped, going this way while Mr. Stubb went that way.

Pretty soon, not so very long, Uncle Wiggly heard a noise in the bushes. Looking out between the branches to make sure it was none of the Bad Chaps, the rabbit gentleman saw a small girl. She had golden hair, she was calling "Bears! Bears! Bears!" and she was crying. Uncle Wiggly could understand girl talk but he couldn't speak it. He knew right away this was Goldilocks. He was wondering how he could tell her to come with him to where the Three Bears were in Mr. Stubb's den. Then he thought: "Perhaps if I show myself to her and hop along she will follow me. I'll lead her to the Three Bears."

Then he hopped behind the bush and when Goldilocks saw him she cried in delight: "Oh, what a cute rabbit! Maybe he can tell me where my Three Bears are. Please do!" she called.

"All right, I will follow me!" said Uncle Wiggly in rabbit talk, which, unfortunately, Goldilocks could not understand. But she ran along after Mr. Longears through the woods and a sort of a sun popped the Bob Cat right in front of the rabbit. But Goldilocks wasn't afraid. "Bears!" she called and, being a sort of noisy, the Bob Cat settled. Then out popped the Wolf. But Goldilocks wasn't afraid. "Wuff!" she shouted and the

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1935

Although benefic aspects are strongly dominant to-day, according to astrology, adverse influences are discerned. In the morning it is wise to push all important matters—especially those affecting employment and promotions. Many changes in government posts are forecast. Women to-day are well directed and should devote attention to philanthropic or general welfare organizations. Much news of service from organizers and executives is promised.

This is read as a fortunate wedding day, for as worldly affairs are converted, but deception may be practiced by brides regarding age and more than that.

There is a sign encouraging intrigue and secret negotiations among foreign nations of international importance. Diplomacy may be exceedingly direct and confusing under this way.

Excitement regarding broken pledges or sinister alliances among foreign nations is predicted at this time.

The evening should be most favorable for entertainments of many sorts. Not only social contacts but theatres and other places of amusement should be beneficial.

Under this planetary government conflicts of many sorts may be expected. Labor and capital, business and government, husbands and wives may be harmonious. War influences will continue to threaten world peace.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year fairly successful in financial fields, but there may be secret anxieties.

Children born on this day probably will be exceedingly fond of romance. Subjects of their sign may have success in various branches of literature.

Ellen Ogley Kirk, author, was born on this day, 1845. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday are: Sir George Howard Beaumont, painter, 1793; and Richard Jeffries, writer, 1841.

New Optimism Being Felt By Travelers

RUSSIA HAD RICH CARGO

Liner Docked Here Yesterday From Orient With Silver, Silk and Gold

The Ss. Empress of Russia, which was here yesterday from the Orient, was a veritable treasure ship. Her cargo was valued at more than $3,000,000. She had silk and gold and silver, as well as other products of the Orient, including foodstuffs, Japanese and Chinese art goods and sugar and hemp from the Philippine Islands.

A shipment of silk came off the liner at this port, and will later go to Vancouver for shipment to California by rail. From San Francisco it will go by way of the Panama Canal to New York.

For Vancouver the Empress of Russia had ten carloads of silk, valued at more than $2,000,000 and more than $1,000,000 worth of bar silver, gold bullion and coin. The silver, totalling about three carloads, is already on its way to London, while the gold, consisting of more than forty boxes, is for the United States.

The liner brought in a total of 177 passengers, including twenty-four in the first class, twenty-seven in the tourist cabins, nineteen Chinese and one Japanese in the closed third and 102 Chinese and four Hindus in the open third class.

GARNER NOW AT HONGKONG

Congressional Party Reaches China Port and Members Talk of Money Systems

Hongkong, Nov. 5.—The United States Congressional party headed by Vice-President John Garner and Speaker of the House George W. Brown arrived to-day aboard the flag-bedecked steamship President Grant. Garner said the new Chinese monetary programme was "interesting" but refused to comment further.

Senator William H. King of Utah said the "Chinese policy should not affect the United States" policy concerning silver, but it may facilitate an international conference dealing with economic and monetary affairs.

"I regret that China felt constrained to abandon silver and I predict she will have great difficulty in managing her currency. She is not in a position to do so as effectively as Britain has done. The new policy may produce confusion and rise in silver prices. Great Britain is having a great deal to do with the rise."

Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, another member of the party, said, "If every country had a managed currency there would be no necessity for either gold or silver. As a practical matter, managed currencies are impossible to-day and talk of the American policy injuring China is mostly propaganda."

To-morrow the President Grant will sail for Manila.

Down the Gangway

More than half the first and tourist class passengers in Victoria yesterday aboard the liner Empress of Russia were on their way from the Orient to England. They took the evening train out of Vancouver and most of them will go aboard the Empress of Britain at Quebec Saturday for Cherbourg and Southampton. There were passengers en route to England, Germany, France, Holland, Italy and Switzerland.

Kurt Frings, young German movie actor, who is known to the screen public as Kurt Fricke, was aboard the Empress of Russia. He had been doing movie work in Honolulu and Shanghai and was on his way back to Hollywood.

Mother Dominique, superior general of an order of French missionary nuns, is aboard the Empress of Russia on a business trip to Japan. Despite her age—she is seventy-two—Mother Dominique every two years makes a trip from Paris to Tokyo and back. On her way out to the Orient she is usually accompanied by two young nuns going to the Orient for missionary duties, but on the return trip she invariably travels alone.

Shanghai people aboard the Empress yesterday were: H. G. MacEwan, commissioner of customs there, who is stopping off in Victoria for a few days; J. J. Hall, connected with the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation; Mrs. D. McLure, wife of the deputy director-general of the Postal Savings Bank, and W. A. B. Gardiner, assistant financial secretary of the statistical department of the Chinese Maritime Customs; Mrs. E. A. G. Hay and Miss J. D. Hay and Miss Perkins and Miss N. Unsworth. From Hongkong came Commander J. Dickson of the Chinese Maritime Customs; D. W. Tarnai, a brother of the Japanese Consul at Portland; Gus Anderson, a Chicago lawyer, completing a trip around the world, and T. L. J.
